BOY, FATHER ARE HELD ON CHARGE OF SELLING BOOZE

Raymond Becker Is Said to Have Had Keys to Safe Which Held Liquor.

Because Raymond Becker, a high school student, is alleged to have the keys to a safe where liquor was kept in his home, he was arrested with his father, William H. Becker, on charges of violating the national prohibition act.

Police and federal officers went to the house at 4101 Piedmont avenue with a search warrant, which they secured from Commissioner Albert M. Hardie after an operator had purchased a drink of liquor in the house. When Becker refused to open the safe the officers sealed it and confiscated it. They also seized a pint of liquor as evidence. Both the father and son were released from the city prison on $500 cash bail each. The boy is a student at the Oakland Technical High school, according to the police report.

City Council Hears Protests on Shops

Charges were made in the city council today that an electric repair shop at 329 Fifty-fifth street is being used for a garage and repair shop, and the fire chief and city attorney were requested to look into the matter. A garage permit was refused this place a year ago.

Protest was heard against a mattress factory long maintained at 957 Thirty-third street, neighbors complaining against sidewalks, noises, dust and rats. The owner of the factory denied these charges and told of means he has taken to eliminate these nuisances. The factory is in the industrial zone and unless the neighbors prove that the place cannot be improved, and will not be, the factory will probably stay, according to admissions. The matter was laid over till tomorrow.

A resolution of intent to pave Fourteenth street from Market to Poplar was adopted.

politics in school time. It was so moved.

"The matter has been hanging fire for months," said Hunter. "The motion is not in order," ruled President Boyle. "There are no formal charges filed against her," said Director Chandler. "She has admitted unprofessional conduct," charged Mrs. Ormsby. "She admitted doing politics against a certain teacher, George Thiriot. Some teachers have told me they were persecuted almost beyond endurance because they were for Thiriot."

"There is an appeal against my decision before the house," reminded Boyle. "Am I sustained?"

He was not. The vote was 4 to 3.

BOYLE OBJECTS TO FOUR-FLUSHER TERMS.

On a motion to expunge Miss Arlett, Boyle arose and made a statement aimed at Mrs. Daisy Short.

"I wish to state that I cannot mention this matter without mentioning that at its last hearing, Mrs. Short called me a dirty four-flusher."

"Not in meeting," corrected Mrs. Short. "I called you a four-flusher after the meeting, without the preceding word. But rather, I will agree with you and call you those things. I want to state that you are mistaken if you think to draw me into any argument. I have determined that I will not aid in any move to destroy the dignity and harmony of the new board."

Miss Arlett was exonerated.

A. J. McPhie, winning bidder for the Garfield auditorium, appeared to state that his figures were wrong and he cannot do the work except at a loss. He wished to withdraw his bid. This will be done if it is legal.

On receipt of advices that the playground appropriation is shrank so that the work cannot continue without fresh money, the board suggested that the City Council should support the playgrounds, and finally referred the matter to the finance committee. The playgrounds ask $10,000.

PROTESTS AGAINST PRINCIPAL'S RULE.

George Gelder, representing merchants near the Clawson school, protested against the rule of Principal A. S. Colten, which tends to make children patronize the school cafeteria instead of the neighborhood stores. Superintendent Hunter pointed out that Colten has certain police duties under state law and that his act was "not boycott but restriction." He asserted that the question was merely about what degree of enforcement of the law is necessary. All concerned will hold a conference in his office soon to straighten it out.

The board went on record to ask the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway to grant half fares to all school children.

Baccus then introduced his resolution eliminating the four positions, and then backed out, saying he did not know the rules are good or bad. "I certainly must study them."

It was finally agreed to hold this matter in abeyance.

BUSTER REPORTS ON REORGANIZATION.

Superintendent Hunter's analysis of the rules and the general school situation is as follows:

"In this crisis in the affairs of the Oakland school system, it is necessary for a superintendent of schools should state his position very clearly with reference to some of the changes that have already taken place or are about to take place. "At the outset, let me make it very clear that the superintendent of schools has nothing at all to ask in any reorganization or the adoption of any administrative policy in the school system, one thing only, namely, the right to administer the schools wholly in the interests of the children of the city without political or outside interference of any kind and with no little association as possible with the political currents that control the local government in the community."

"Another fact ought to be unmistakably understood, namely, that it is not only the right, but the duty, of the Board of Education to control the financial and business policy of the schools and to assume responsibility for their monetary support."

These two principles are firmly established in the conduct of the affairs of all good school systems. They should not even be subject to question or debate, as overwhelming is the evidence in their support from all city school systems in the United States. That the executive staff of the schools and the members of the teaching force and the whole staff fully understand our adherence to these two fundamental principles, permit me to state again, as I have many times heretofore, the principal tenets to which the present administration subscribes in its policy of school procedure. I am presenting these as a sort of code or platform and would respectfully recommend its adoption as the body of principles upon which the board and the superintendent's office does and shall conduct the Oakland schools.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS AND MANAGEMENT.

"1.—The technical educational affairs and procedure of the schools, the management of the teaching force, the development and supervision of the course of study, the methods of instruction, the appointment and transfer of all teachers and officers of the teaching corps proper are, as they should be, under the personal direction and control of the superintendent and his immediate subordinates. It is the business of the superintendent to devote his efforts and his time entirely and wholly to this particular function of the school system. In the success of this function of the school system lies the success of the schools.

"Because no educational system can be carried on without the daily performance of certain purely business tasks, these activities, carried on according to a policy previously laid out by the board, should be administered not as a part of the daily activities of the superintendent, but by men skilled in these lines acting as aides to the superintendent, who is the administrative head.

"2.—The financial policy and business management of the affairs of the schools are and should be in the hands of the Board of Education. For this purpose the board has a finance committee whose business it is to work in close conjunction with the business department of the schools in establishing a financial and business procedure for the schools, the board should follow a plan somewhat as follows:

BUSINESS EXECUTIVE FOR SCHOOLS URGED.

"(a) That the details of business administration of the schools in the hands of a competent business executive with whom the finance committee and the board itself should work in close harmony and co-operation, but the administration of details should be wholly in the hands of this business executive and the members of his department. This business executive should report to the superintendent of schools and be a member of his executive council.

"(b) Determine through its finance committee, which with the executives constitutes the budget committee, the itemized budget for the school system for each year.

"(c) Set up by its own action the appropriations for the various purposes and activities of the schools.

"(d) Undertake the proper steps to secure adequate financial support from the tax levying bodies and from the community.

"(e) Pass upon and approve or disapprove all items of expenditure of $200 or more before the obligation is incurred.

"(f) Pass upon and approve or disapprove all items of expenditure, no matter how small, before the expenditure is made.

"(g) Control automatically the expenditures for all purposes for which appropriations are set up or allotments made by the adoption of a resolution which shall operate automatically to prevent the executives from entering into any contract or incurring any expense if an appropriation or an allotment be overdrawn, which resolution is herewith appended.

RIGID ECONOMY DECLARED NECESSARY.

"3.—In view of the rising cost of public education, due to increase of costs generally and the growth of the schools, the practice of the most rigid economy is necessary. Every position interests of the schools as to the maintenance of our present standards of instruction and supervision should be done away with. We should not permit our instruction to deteriorate nor our class rooms to become crowded to a point where the teachers find it impossible to do efficient work. But we must, because of the period of retrenchment through which the country and the community are passing, cut to the bone upon non-essentials absolutely essential for the maintenance of the present standards. While the Oakland schools have been maintained upon a very low overhead, one which is less in fact than the average for the country as a whole, it will be necessary to reduce this overhead still further in face of the growth of the schools and the higher plane of costs.

"4.—The administration of the schools should be under a single authority, that is there should be unified administrative control. Let me point out the difference between control in policy making and the establishment of a business system, which is properly in the hands of the board, and a unified system for carrying out a policy. The administration of the schools should be carried on under a unified single-headed plan. The business policy should be made by the board themselves working through the finance committee and the business man at the head of the business department."

CHICAGO, April 4.—"Shoot on sight" was the order issued by Police Chief Fitzmorris concerning the slayers of Policeman Ernest Cassidy and Philip J. Sammers, treasurer of the Royal Building and Loan Association.

The two were shot by five bandits, who snatched a satchel containing $7000 and escaped. The robbery was in full view of hundreds in the business district of South Chicago last night.

EFFICIENCY' IS GIVEN AS CAUSE OF DISMISSALS

White House Statement Says
No Reflection on Employees
Is Intended.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The recent dismissal of upwards of thirty officials of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing by President Harding involved no desire "to reflect upon the character of any government employee," it was said today by Secretary Christian.

In a letter to John J. Deviny, one of the dismissed executives, Christian declared the President regretted that "insinuating publicity" had attended the dismissal order, and indicated that a statement broadly covering the whole incident might be made later at the White House.

The secretary's letter, the first official comment to come from White House officials since the dismissal order was announced, was written as a result of a visit to the White House yesterday by a number of the discharged officials.

MAKES NO REFLECTION.
Secretary Christian's letter, written yesterday, said:

"I have shown to the president the statement left by you and your associates on the occasion of your call at the White House this afternoon. He asked me to reply and say that he would have been glad to meet your delegation had he been present at the time of your call, though he is not yet prepared to make his statement relative to the executive order which was made effective on Friday evening, March 31.

"The president has no wish to reflect upon the character of any government employee, but he did hold that a sweeping change in the bureau was essential for the good of the public service. He regrets the insinuating publicity, no less than those who have been discontinued from the public service."

Reorganization of the bureau through the executive order issued last Friday by President Harding, removing James L. Wilmoth, its director, and 28 other officials, was explained yesterday on the grounds of "efficiency" by Secretary Mellon.

No charge involving the honesty of any of the dismissed bureau officials have been filed, the Treasury secretary stated.

Mellon's explanation of the sweeping changes made in the administrative personnel of the bureau was the first official light thrown upon the President's action since the announcement of the order at the White House.

SPECULATION RIFE.
Meanwhile, speculation has been rife in official circles over the sudden removal of the officials, and resolutions were introduced in both the Senate and House, seeking to elicit further information from the President.

Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, introduced a resolution calling upon President Harding to inform the Senate, if not incompatible with the public interest, as to the causes for the action taken in the bureau and under what authority of law the changes were made.

Representative Moore, Democrat, Virginia, at the same time introduced a resolution for the appointment of a special House committee to investigate the changes.

GUESTS HEAR TALK ON NEW ZEALAND

Outlining the story of the lost continent, and telling of the wonders of that country, Tella M. Blomfield, representative of the New Zealand government, addressed members of the Electric Club at their luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Oakland.

"When you consider that seventy years ago the native people were cannibals and now six occupy seats in the New Zealand parliament," she said, "you can fancy the strides of government. These natives are industrious and will not accept the position of personal servants. They are anxious for education and occupy professional pursuits."

The speaker described the many scenic wonders of New Zealand's thermal springs and hot rivers. She continued: "You realize these conditions when you see a native woman kneeling, dipping clothes in a boiling hot spring and without getting up, reach over and rinse them in an ice cold spring."

She outlined many of the political and social reforms, which have been copied by other nations, saying: "New Zealand is two-thirds the size of California, yet as near as it is to Asia, there are neither Japanese nor Chinese. The government operates all public utilities, including telegraph and fire insurance. The land act prevents large holdings of land unless these are actively worked, otherwise the government condemns at reasonable prices and sells out in small holdings. There are no poorhouses. The needy from old age or ill health may get a pension through proof of need, of an amount not to exceed $250 a year. New Zealand insists upon and requires a general schooling and education. Labor is strongly unionized and so are the employees. There is compulsory arbitration. It is admitted there have been failures yet differences have been patched up."

School Rebuilding Approved by Board

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Approval of the project to rebuild the Mission High school, recently destroyed by fire, and to make twenty class rooms available for use at the beginning of the new school year in August, was given yesterday by the Board of Supervisors at their meeting. The building will be used until a new $1,000,000 high school is constructed.

The proposed Dumbarton bridge, to span San Francisco bay to Alameda, was given a boost through letters of the Mission Street Merchants' Association and the Alameda County Chamber of Commerce, both urging that a conference be called to consider the matter more thoroughly.

S. F. to Put Beer, Wine Question on Ballot

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—A proposal to petition Congress for an amendment to the Volstead act, which will restore beers and light wines, will be contained on the ballot

A Home-Made Gray Hair Remedy

Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy. Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. You can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Advertisement.

WOMEN URGED TO SPIRITUAL HELP

An appeal for personal service in visiting families under the protection of the Associated Charities was made by Miss Elizabeth Skeele, executive secretary, addressing Park Boulevard Woman's club yesterday afternoon. The speaker urged all women with leisure time to volunteer in the work. While grocery orders are necessary, sympathetic interest and friendliness are important in the rehabilitation of a discouraged household. Miss Skeele declared. Special interest was claimed for the elderly people remaining in their own homes by reason of state and county aid. Moonshine at School Breaks Up One Session

(By United Press) BEND, Ore., April 4.—Pupils at the Alfalfa public school, twenty miles east of here, enjoyed a half holiday Monday. Five of the scholars, ranging in age from 12 to 16, appeared at the morning session carrying bottles of moonshine around and soon the conduct of the scholars became riotous. The teacher was forced to summon help to quell the disturbance and dismiss the class. One boy boasted that he was independent of bootleggers as he was operating his own still. County School Superintendent Thompson is investigating.

Many Suggestions Made For Name of Durant Boat

By JIM HOULIHAN. Leonard Sleep, chairman of the committee in charge of the auto-tire changing contest have been altered. In former years the men merely removed the casings from rims lying on the floor of the stage. This year they will be required to remove the tires from the wheels of actual automobiles on the stage, then remove the casings, the tubes, and replace the whole tire on the car. The man who does this fastest wins The TRIBUNE cup and cash prizes. Willys-Knight cars, lent by Bell and Boyd, will be used. The cars will be locked on to the stage at the Orpheum after the last act of the regular show, and then the fun will begin. Among the entrants are Percy Paynter of the Rockridge Tire company, Geo. Cereit of George's Tire Shop, Henry Krueckle of Weinstock-Nichols Co.

He wants to select a name for his ship, and he asked The TRIBUNE automotive department to help him get his message before the residents of the Eastbay counties. If you have any ideas as to what an appropriate name would be, simply put your thoughts in writing and mail them to R. C. Durant, care The TRIBUNE Automotive Department. On Saturday, April 8, the contest will close, and Durant will pick out from among the suggestions sent into him the name which suits him best. If his choice happens to have been the correct one of some lady or some young miss that person will be asked by Durant to christen his boat. If a lucky male is the winner he can name any young miss he chooses for the christening ceremony. Now, there isn't a difficult task involved in the details you have just read, so get busy this evening and forward proposal as a title for the ship. The winner will be announced as soon as possible next week.

MILTON TO RACE. Tommy Milton signed a contract yesterday with the San Carlos race management guaranteeing his appearance in the Easter Sunday race. The managers of the speedway across the bay claim that Milton advised them he would not enter either the Fresno or the Cotati events, saying that his entry in the Peninsula contest, April 16, would be the last time he would race in California prior to the Indianapolis grind. Tommy told the officials of the track across the bay that he had sold his car to R. C. Durant, and that Durant would drive the old Milton job in the Indianapolis classic. TIRE CONTEST ENTRIES. One of the best tire changing contests ever staged will be the main event of the Alameda County Automobile Trade Association theater party, which will be held at the Orpheum next Monday night. Six men have already entered the contest. In fact, there are so many entrants that it will be necessary to hold an elimination contest. This will be held Friday afternoon in the Broadway establishment of WAR VETERANS PLAN WELCOME FOR JOFFRE "Well, hello there, Jack. I hear you're on the American Legion committee to plan for the reception to Field Marshal Joffre when he arrives. He's a great hero all right. I hope you fellows plan a mighty fine reception for him. He sure deserves it. I'll say. By the way, what is the date of his visit?"

"According to his plans up to date, he is due April 6. Yes, I guess there will be a fine reception for him this time. I suppose there will be a lot of parades and other things for him, too. That means that I'll have to have a lot of new duds, I guess. Where I'm going to get them I don't know. I think every month I'll have enough ahead to buy some clothes, but I don't have them yet. Just my luck to have this big affair come along and catch me without that new suit yet."

"Well, Jack, I wouldn't worry about suits if I were you. Why don't you go to 525 12th street and get your suit at Cherry's on credit. They have quality clothes. I'm saying, and you can make convenient arrangements for paying something down and so much a month. Cherry's store for women is at 515 12th street.—Advertisement.

WAR STUDENTS PROTEST DELAY

BERKELEY, April 4.—Protesting against delay in receiving compensation, which they declare is necessary to keep them in school and which is due them by the veterans' compensation act, about 200 ex-service men, vocational training students at the University of California, will meet in room 100 Wheeler hall tomorrow night, at 7:45 o'clock. GAS APPLIANCE WEEK, SUCCESS

Gas Appliance week, which opened throughout cities of the Eastbay district yesterday, is to be the biggest event of its kind on record, according to predictions made by dealers at the weekly dinner of the Eastbay Gas Appliance society in Hotel Harrison last night.

Demonstrations of the latest inventions and improvements in gas appliances continued in thirty-five stores of Eastbay cities today. Plans were discussed for improving and adding to window displays and for presenting the most modern features of gas appliance to the public. Dealers report great interest during the first day. The interest would grow as the week progresses.

One of the features of the week, so far developed, has been the novelty, originality and great extent of the advertising used by merchants and the society. The advertising campaign will be continued in order that housewives may be informed of the displays prepared for their inspections.

Among the dealers at the dinner last night were President D. H. McCorkle, Frank L. Pollard, Russell Cordell, Gardner Russ, L. F. Galbraith, H. F. Barber, C. E. Barber, George B. Furness, J. P. Saunders, W. M. Blomberg, J. E. Reynolds, Paul R. Swedberg, J. L. Scott and J. R. Calder.

Campaign Manager Herbert Stanton reported that the supplies of posters and stickers had been exhausted by reason of the heavy demand from dealers and that new supplies would be obtained at the earliest possible moment. J. R. Calder chairman of the advertising committee, submitted a report of the advertising used and outlined the campaign for the remainder of the week.

Dealers from Berkeley said that the opening of the campaign had awakened great interest. The campaign is being carried on in Richmond, Alameda, San Leandro and Hayward, as well as Oakland and Berkeley.

Russ Requisition Church Jewels To Halt Famine

MOSCOW, April 4. (By the Associated Press).—The requisitioning of church treasures is in full swing throughout Russia, but under the harshest circumstances. From ten provinces there already have been collected 70 pounds of gold and 17,820 pounds of silver. From six churches in the outlying districts of Moscow requisitioning parties on Sunday secured 212 pounds of silver, a quantity of gold and 24 diamonds. In one synagogue the custodians were arrested because ten valuable articles that had been listed were missing.

Up to March 13, churches in the government of Viatka had yielded 21-3 pounds, or about 4500 carats of diamonds and nearly ten pounds of pearls and other jewels.

The central committee of the Moscow province communist party has ordered every communist to surrender all its gold, silver and jewels, with the exception of Bolshevik decorations, for the benefit of the famine-stricken people.

The Soviet government has begun, in the presence of Bishop Andrey, to melt the gold and silver which has been confiscated. The famine committee has asked the government to advance 1,000,000 gold rubles against the valuables already secured in order that it may immediately purchase bread abroad.

The government's theory is that a great majority of the parishioners and most of the minor clergy approve the humanitarian aims of the requisitions, and that it is only the princes of the church who, for purely political purposes, are urging resistance. The newspapers and posters which emblazon the billboards of Moscow, protest against the attitude of the Most Rev. Dr. Tikhon, patriarch of all Russia. One poster contrasts the patriarch, clad in jeweled garments and surrounded by heaps of diamonds with a ghastly picture of two starving peasants pleading for aid, while around them lie piles of bodies of persons who already have died from famine.

"Every pound of church silver means forty pounds of bread for the starving," says another poster prominently displayed in the city.

HOMEY MEN, LOOK OUT!

CHICAGO, April 4.—Accused of punching Charles Hutchinson in the nose, Fred Cowmark pleaded in defense: "He is so homey. I didn't like his looks." Fred was sent to jail.

WOMAN FARMER WILL SEEK CONGRESS SEAT

ALBANY, N. Y., April 4.—A woman farmer of Albany seeks a seat in Congress "to show lawmakers what farmers are up against." She is Mrs. Lella Selon Edmundson, candidate for a seat in the lower house from the Eighth Albany district.

Mrs. Edmundson, in her announcement declared that "there is imperative need for more real dirt farmers in Congress." She is the owner and boss of a 1,600-acre Maryland county farm, where "everything but sugar and coffee" are grown.

The Morgan county woman said she demonstrated on her farm that rural life could be made comfortable and attractive, as well as profitable and that she proposed to go to Congress in the hope that more substantial recognition might be accorded fellow ruralists.

"I don't want to stay long in Congress," she said, "but I do want to go to Washington at this time when the farmer is so much in need of assistance."

PIONEER RANCHER DIES.

WOODLAND, April 4.—Noah Myers, former Woodland resident, and more lately one of the extensive ranchers of Sutter county, passed away Sunday night at his temporary home in Pacific Grove at the age of 89 years. He owned much business property in Woodland and was related to the Snavely and Miller families, prominent in West Side Maryland, and had been living with Miss Nina Myers, a niece of Pacific Grove.

How Fat Actress Was Made Slim

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. All good druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a case, or if you prefer, you can send them direct from the Marmola Co., 4012 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—have a sure effect on the liver and its effect on the body is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant, the calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They do not injure the teeth like strong purgative or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and liver disorder. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "fogy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. Use and see.—Advertisement.

LIONS CLUB TO PUBLISH PAPER

SAN JOSE, April 4.—Acting Secretary D. W. McClellan of the San Jose Lions' club, today announced plans of his organization for the publication of a snappy, up-to-the-minute club paper, to be issued monthly or weekly. He issued an appeal to members of the club to give the paper support by means of advertising. The publication will be known as "The Lions' Paw" and will be handled in such a manner as to keep Lionsism before the members and public.

The next regular business meeting will determine, probably, the question of what Lion shall represent this city at the Lions' international convention to be staged at Little Rock, Ark., in June, according to word issued today. The decision will be made by means of a drawing, in order that every club member shall have an opportunity to win the coveted honor.

Plans also continue for the sending of a delegation of local Lions to the district convention to be held at Fresno, May 12 and 13, a large number of delegates from here being assured.

Experts of India declare the torch of religion was used to start rebellion in Malabar.

PICKLE CONTRACT IS CONSUMMATED

TURLOCK, April 4.—The superintendent of the California Preserving Company of Hayward attended a meeting of the directors of the Turlock Merchants and Growers Association last night for the purpose of consummating the agreement between the company and the association for the handling of the cucumber crop that is to be raised here this season. The T. M. and G. will agree to handle the bringing part of the procedure, and the pickling company will undertake to purchase from them the cucumbers so brought.

With that contract disposed of, T. M. and G. will contract with the growers to handle their crops at a stated price and to handle all they produce provided the product comes up to the specifications, for pickling cucumbers are purchased in grades. These contracts will be available for signature on Tuesday morning, and thereafter, and the cucumber seed that has been selected by the company will be available at the same time. The prospects for the cucumber business are exceedingly bright, and all that is necessary is that the soil do its utmost.

The surgeon fish of the West Indies attracts blood from those who handle it.

SOVIETS SPREAD PROPAGANDA IN TURKISH CITIES

ANGORA, Turkey, April 4.—Active propaganda is being carried on here at the seat of the Kemal Pasha's Nationalist government by a Bolshevik trade delegation, under professor Gorkin of Moscow University. The Soviet aims were explained at a dinner to Kemal press representatives, when the Russian spokesman said: "We mean to work hard to bring about the recovery of Oriental peoples. They must free themselves from the grip of western influence. Turkey has given a brilliant example, and this will be followed by other Asiatic nations. We intend to open libraries, economic institutes, theaters and railways throughout the country." It was further announced that a Russian commission would shortly arrive in Angora to study the resources of the country. A Russian orchestra is giving a series of propaganda concerts in aid of the Russian famine.

FEAR OF WAR NOW NEEDLESS; GEDDES

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 4.—"There is nothing going on behind the scenes which anybody need be the slightest bit anxious or worried about," said Sir Auckland Geddes, ambassador to Washington from the Court of St. James, in the course of his speech before a gathering under the auspices of the Vancouver Board of Trade. Speaking as one whose business it is to know just what is going on in world politics, Sir Auckland assured his hearers that there was no truth in the insinuation, so often spoken, and still often written, that the nations were on the verge of another great war. "They tell you it can't be avoided," said Sir Auckland. "Where there is smoke there must be fire," is the only ground they have for their pessimism. And that is, only another of those sayings which mean nothing."

County School Supt. Has Two Varieties of Grief to Straighten Out.

David Martin, county superintendent of schools, has two Gordian knots to hew apart as a result of two curious blunders in the school trustee election in Alameda county.

The Murray school district elected the wrong man to the office of school trustee, the Lincoln school district elected the right man, but now he refuses to serve.

In the Murray district the man who should have been on the ticket was J. Neidt, who was appointed on July 1 to fill the unexpired term ending May 1, 1922.

Instead, the name of J. J. Hansen, who is now a school trustee and has another year to serve, was placed on the ballot. There was no opposition and he won.

In the Lincoln school district Frank Sayles, who has been a member of the board for some years, had a spirited fight for re-election, his opponent being Mrs. Helen Reider. After he won he refused the office.

According to Martin the Tennessee school district voted to go into the Hayward Union high school instead of Washington or Livermore.

In a majority of the school districts there were no contests, the incumbent trustees being elected without opposition. In the districts where there were contests the present office holders were generally successful. In

EDUCATION BODY PLANS MEETING AND DISCUSSION

Industrial Relations Sub-Committee to Hold Conference at City Hall.

The Joint Committee on Co-operation Between Industries and Educational Institutions of the Industrial Relations Association of California will hold a special meeting at the City Hall, tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The committee, composed of twenty-three representatives of school and business, was appointed in January for the purpose of bringing scientific attention to bear upon the mutual problems of schools and industry to the end that more satisfactory relations might be established between them. The immediate work of the committee will be to study ways and means of readjusting curricula to industrial and business needs.

Report will be made upon the following topics assigned to the sub-committee groups at the last committee session held at the San Francisco City Hall in March: Part Time Education Under the Legislative Enactment of May 27, 1919; Combatting Radical Propaganda Through Education; Part Time Experience Classes; Publicity for Educational Aims and Activities; Vocational Guidance.

The following are the members of the committee: Chairman, Dr. Roy L. Kelly, advisory chairman, Dr. Roy Lyman Wilbur, president Stanford University, representing education; Paul Sharronburg, California Federation of Labor; F. A. Scofield, Bureau of Management Research; Professor Robert J. Leonard, University of California; F. C. Metcalf, California Metal Trades Association; Dr. Frederick Burke, president San Francisco Teachers' College; Joseph Toole, personnel manager, The Emporium; Miss Adelaide Hunter, head of merchandising department, San Francisco School Department; Geo. L. Bell, industrial consultant; A. J. Cloud, assistant superintendent, San Francisco schools; Warren McBryde, California Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company; Fred H. Hunter, superintendent of Oakland Schools; R. H. Ivory, director of personnel, Standard Oil Company; R. L. Johns, director of educational courses, Young Men's Christian Association; C. W. Bryant, Retail Merchants' Association; Professor Lewis M. Terman, Stanford University; John F. Johnston, Cereal Products Refining Corporation; Professor Clarence L. Corey, University of California; L. W. Bartlett, Federal Board of Vocational Education; Professor W. B. Herms, chairman Berkeley Board of Education.

Burglar, Proud Of Honesty, May Win Probation

There is one thing in particular that William Johnson, colored, and confessed burglar, prides himself upon, and that is his honesty. Because Johnson was able today to convince Superior Judge Church that this little vanity of his is not without foundation, he was granted a one-day's postponement of his sentence for burglary. If in that time he can supply further proof of it, he will probably be released on probation.

Upon his arrest, following the robbery of a Seventh street jewelry store by cutting the plate glass window while a train was passing, Johnson led the police to the place where he had buried his share of the loot down by the estuary.

"I'm not deceiving you, boss," he declared. "I'm an honest man. I'll tell you right where all that stuff is that I stole, and all about it."

Later Johnson told Probation Officer Leonard Compton just where and how many times he had been in jail. "I don't want to fool you," he insisted. "I want to be perfectly honest about everything."

Today, when brought before Judge Church for sentence, he made no attempt to conceal any part of his checkered past. He explained that the reason he had been arrested ten times in seven of the largest cities of the country, was that whenever he stole a ride on a train in the hope of finding work in some other city, he was picked up as a vagrant.

This, he pointed out, had prevented him from actually getting started on a real working basis.

Judge Church told Johnson that if Police Inspector Tom Gallagher would testify that Johnson had been honest with the police after his arrest, he would be given probation. The hearing will be held tomorrow.

Seven Counties in Big Paint Campaign

Seven counties of the bay district will participate in the annual Save-the-Surface Campaign, which is to be held from May 1 to 13, according to a decision reached at a recent luncheon of the Golden Gate Paint and Varnish Club in San Francisco.

It was originally decided to include only the four counties of Alameda, San Francisco, Contra Costa and San Mateo. Later a decision was reached to include the counties of Santa Clara, Sonoma and Marin.

A general meeting of paint men will be held in the San Francisco Commercial Club Monday night, April 10, to discuss details of the campaign.

Benjamin Given Federal Position

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—Raymond Benjamin, Western regional director of the Republican party in the 1920 campaign, was notified today of his appointment as special assistant to the United States attorney-general in charge of Indian affairs.

The principal work of the office will be to investigate the alleged conspiracies affecting the rights of Indians and Indian reservations.

C. C. COMMITTEE WORKS FOR ALL LABOR CLASSES

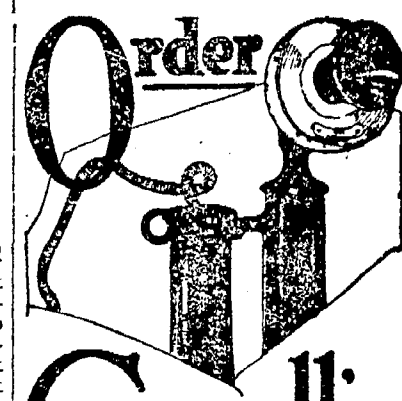

Statement Issued on Conditions That Now Exist in Oakland.

"The declaration of union heads that there is no shortage of skilled labor in Oakland and efforts on the part of these union officers to confuse the shortage of skilled men with the over-supply of unskilled, is a part of a recently announced statewide campaign of the organization, by which they hope to do away with the American plan of operation and compel a return to union rule."

This was the statement of the industrial relations committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce in a review of industrial conditions issued today. According to the reports orders for nineteen plasterers, eleven bricklayers and ten lathers stood unfilled at the employment office of the Builders' Exchange last night.

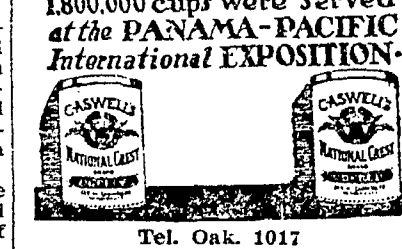

"This condition applies to skilled workers in the building class," the report continues. "The general unemployment situation among men not in the building trades has been but partly relieved and will not be entirely overcome until the spring demand for common labor draws a portion of unskilled men into outside fields."

"At the present time non-union men working in Oakland are given equal opportunity with the union men and on most pieces of construction union and non-union men are working side by side. The wages paid are those decreed by the impartial San Francisco wage board consisting of Archbishop Hanna, H. U. Brandenstein and C. E. Michaels.

"In some instances the shortage of skilled men has led to the payment of a premium of $1 to $2 a day. For example, the scale price for plasterers is $10 per day and many are receiving $11 and $12. The members of this committee are diligently working to relieve the unemployment situation among the unskilled classes and to overcome the shortage in skilled crafts."

Famine Near End in Valley of the Volga

SAMARA, Russia, April 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Volga valley will be able to feed itself and will not require American food after September 1, in the opinion of the provincial officials and the peasants themselves in Samara and in villages along the Samara-Orenburg railway, which runs through the heart of the famine district.

The suffering now is at its worst in many villages far from the railways, or which have received only limited American relief administration food supplies by reason of the blockade in transport. Thousands of persons are dying, but American corn already is penetrating the communes, and with spring near it is expected it is a matter of only a few weeks before the worst will be over.

There is ample man power to harvest the crops. The ground already has been prepared for the seed wheat which is arriving.

PROTEST NOT HEARD.
RICHMOND, April 4.—No action was taken by the Council last night on the protest, filed by L. J. Thole against the improvement of the Macdonald-avenue subway. Thole contends that the proposed improvements would be only of a temporary nature, claiming that in a few years the increase of traffic would necessitate expansion of the subway to the full width of Macdonald avenue.

DRY FORCES PLAN UNITED CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Uncle Sam's most determined effort to throttle demon rum will be started within a week, immediately after a conference of the general prohibitionists, it was learned today.

This war council, composed of Commissioners Roy A. Haynes, who has lined up the forces on the Canadian border; Colonel L. G. Nutt, who is returning from mobilization of the Florida army, and E. C. Yellowsky, who recently organized the forces on the Mexican frontier, will assemble Thursday or Friday to draw up final plans for a simultaneous onslaught on rum runners via sea and land.

More than seventy guests attended the ceremony, read by Rev. Clarence Reed of the First Unitarian church in this city. The home was beautifully arranged in pink and white fruit blossoms, the nuptial vows being exchanged beneath a bower of the same. The bride wore her mother's bridal gown of rich duchess satin and lace with veil and orange blossoms worn by her mother at her own marriage. Bride's roses, lilies of the valley and tulips made up the shower bouquet.

Miss Hildegard Van Brunt wore a quaint frock of crisp pink tulle, the skirt being made in hoop fashion and trimmed in garlands of flowers. A shower of pink blossoms completed the picture.

U. S. Flapper Has Italian Relative Named "Small Fry"

CHICAGO, April 4.—The "flapper" is an American institution, her sister in Italy, for instance, being an entirely different species. Signorina de Castelvoglio, professor of Italian literature in the University of Birmingham, England, told members of the American Association of University Women.

The Italian young woman, if a college girl, she said, was a serious-minded young woman bent on acquiring knowledge. She wouldn't know the Italian equivalent of "egg" according to the speaker and neither would she know the term to use for "mad money," the change the flapper takes along when she goes "shopping" so she can get home in case of a "ruktion" with her "sweetie."

"The nearest equivalent to what you in America call a 'flapper' is what we call 'small fry'," she said. "We apply that term to a young girl who reaches the age when she believes she counts for more in the universal scheme than she really does. All young people reach that age, don't they?"

"An Italian girl does not use rouge or the lipstick. It is considered very undereared."

The little Baltic state of Latvia has put into commission an "Armada" consisting of an old German guard-ship salvaged from the sea and three armed tugboats.

Early this morning Tank Number 38, the third tank to catch fire at the Sapulpa refining company's plant near here after a lightning stroke Sunday night fired 55,000-barrel tank, boiled over and the fire rapidly died out.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

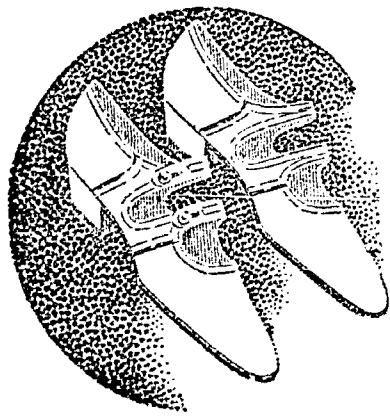

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Disurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloating right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Disurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form, never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advertisement.

QUEEN CONTEST FOR SHRINE FETE GROWS EXCITING

Candidates and Backers Are Making Lively Bids for Success.

Developments in the Queen Contest for the Shrine Mardi Gras indicate that the contest will be a hot one. The contest is being held in the city against city, country district, and industrial organization against industrial organization.

Under the plan of the contest the various cities, country districts, lodges and industrial organizations are placing candidates in the field with a complete campaign organization. Each candidate has a manager, and already some of the managers have their campaigns under way.

WORK FOR CANDIDATES.
Miss Mabel Axelson of Richmond and her manager are lining up all of the forces in Contra Costa county for votes. Last week a special dance was held at which all of the proceeds went toward the purchase of votes for her.

Miss Alice James of the electrical department of the city hall is another candidate who plans to secure the strength of the city hall employees, and her manager is planning an aggressive campaign which will include the courts of the city and policemen.

Miss Louise Bruns is backed by the Sequoyia Lodge of Masons, and Clifford Hish, her manager, has a number of novel stunts for vote-getting. Promoter Tom Norris of Livermore sent word to headquarters yesterday that he had arranged for a candidate from the Livermore valley and that an active campaign will be made throughout the entire southern end of the county in her behalf.

CONTEST OPENS APRIL 12.
The Queen Contest will open on Wednesday, April 12. The first prize will be a $1500 closed automobile, while the four other prizes will take the form of diamond rings. All of the proceeds from the contest, together with the proceeds from the Shrine Shriner's fund which the Shrine Shriner's are raising for the purpose of entertaining the delegates to the Shrine Convention in San Francisco in June.

STARLIGHT

by IDA H. MCGLOTH GIBSON

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first family of Virginia, had been against the putnamian rule of her grandfather and, tired by Finland, runs away to become a motion picture actress. Arriving in Los Angeles, she meets Gloria Summers, the girl who has been in the picture business since they were warm friends. They meet Herbert Richardson, a wealthy young man who has been interested in Gloria. Gloria accepts, for herself and Virginia, the offer of a million dollars to marry him. But when the money is gone, they must leave early. News came of the serious illness of Kitty Dalton—the direct result of the wild party. Gloria and Virginia are at the STUDIO.

When I got downstairs I found two letters—one from Aunt Virginia, to whom I had wired my address as soon as I had settled down with Rita, and one from Eddie Montforth.

To my great surprise I found that my old sequestered life in Virginia had grown so remote to me that I had almost forgotten it. I slipped both letters into my pocket as Rita came to the door of the limousine.

He thought it best not to be seen with me. Oh, how I hate this deception. He says that we must be married secretly. What do you think about it, Virgie?

"My dear, I don't know so very much about it. My father and mother, you know, were married secretly at least the way away to be married and then told my grandfather."

"Oh, I don't mean an elopement, Virgie. I mean an absolutely secret marriage to be kept secret, if we can keep it so. Until all this horrible affair of Kitty Dalton's is over with."

"But I don't understand how you can keep it secret."

"That is one of the things that money can do. Herb is going to get the license and arrange things this morning."

"Will you keep on at the studio?"

"Oh, I don't know. I am going to find out. Herb says I must keep on if it is necessary."

That last sentence—"Herb says I must keep on if it is necessary"—did not seem like Gloria. Although I had never heard the tone from any woman's lips, intuitively I recognized it. Already Rita belonged—already she was part of her man.

And although I was ashamed of it, involuntarily I found myself sighing for I wondered how I should get along without Gloria.

"But tomorrow will be another day," I thought, taking a leaf out of Rita's book.

At this moment the chauffeur pulled up in front of the studio. Involuntarily Rita and I raised our heads and, looking at each other for the courage which neither of us felt within ourselves, we walked to face whatever might come to us.

Neither of us spoke the thought that was within our hearts as we hurriedly made up, and I did not realize that we both were listening for the tone of Tommy Warner's voice when he should call Gloria to the set. For from it, I intuitively expected to read our fate. Dismissal—or the chance for a career.

"Gloria, are you ready?" You had better hurry, little girl. We're waiting for you. The little box-like room was surcharged with our mutual sigh of relief.

"Come on, Virgie," said Gloria and her voice held the old note of belief in the world that I had first found it at which I had been absent from it for the last twenty-four hours.

Instinctively we clasped each other's hands and walked out together. Although we neither of us turned our heads to right nor left, I could feel the looks of all the people on the set being into me.

"Hear 'em buzz," said Rita in an undertone. "Every girl in atmosphere who is jealous of my being given this little part is dishing the dirt about me."

As strange as it may seem, I loved the studio slang phrase for scandal as it issued from Rita's lips. It told me that she had gotten her second wind and was ready to stand by her guns against the onslaught of the entire gossiping movie crowd, which constituted her world.

As much as I hated it, I walked with firm steps toward the extra people who were grouped at one side of the set.

There was a hush as I came and I knew they had been talking about us.

It was then that I realized for the first time that much of the scandal of the big stars originates in the petty minds of little people, who, jealous of the success of those above them, will ever play only small parts whether on the screen or in life itself. They are the jealous bystanders who never escape the role that they themselves have chosen. Through laziness or mediocrity they cannot rise to do those big things which they envy in those above them. And, lacking everything which would tend to broaden them to where they could fill a big part either in life or upon the screen, they are continually trying to pull down to their level those who through hard work and talent leave them far behind.

I was very grateful when Jack Thompson caught my eye.

"Say, Virgie, I hope some one will ask us to see the rushes tonight, or course they won't invite me, but if Tommy Warner asks you, let me in on it, won't you?"

I looked at him in surprise, for I did not know what "rushes" meant. "Evidently Miss Winston is new to the screen," I interposed a rosy, innocent voice at my elbow. "Rushes mean the first print of the camera negative, which is hurriedly finished and shown in the projection room the day after they have been taken, for the benefit of the director, the stars and a few others who are interested. The scenes taken yesterday will be shown tonight, but I hardly think that any of the atmosphere will be invited."

"Don't fool yourself, Laura," said a voice in exactly the same tone of insolence which the girl had used to me. "I am asking Miss Winston to see those rushes, and if I have any 'fun' with the powers that be, she won't be in atmosphere long."

I turned to see Tommy Warner as their room discussing it. Virginia and Gloria are visited by a police man. He wants to learn their part in last night's party. They learn that Kitty Dalton is dangerously ill in the hospital as the result of the affair. Satisfied the girls knew nothing, he left. Gloria, tried frantically to reach Herb by phone. Gloria's persistence was rewarded and she finally found Herb. He came early in the morning to talk the situation over with Gloria and Virginia—a saddest and when that Gloria was his guide star. He realized, with cleared vision, her devotion to him and his love for her. He proposed.

with a curt nod he hurried away with the words: "Bring that young chap who entered with you in to see them."

Jack Thompson squeezed my arm. "Good for you, Virgie. Isn't it great?" Oh, yes, I hope they leave it in. Jack, the Warner will see to that. He'll be cool, incidentally voice again.

Letters Delayed by Incomplete Address

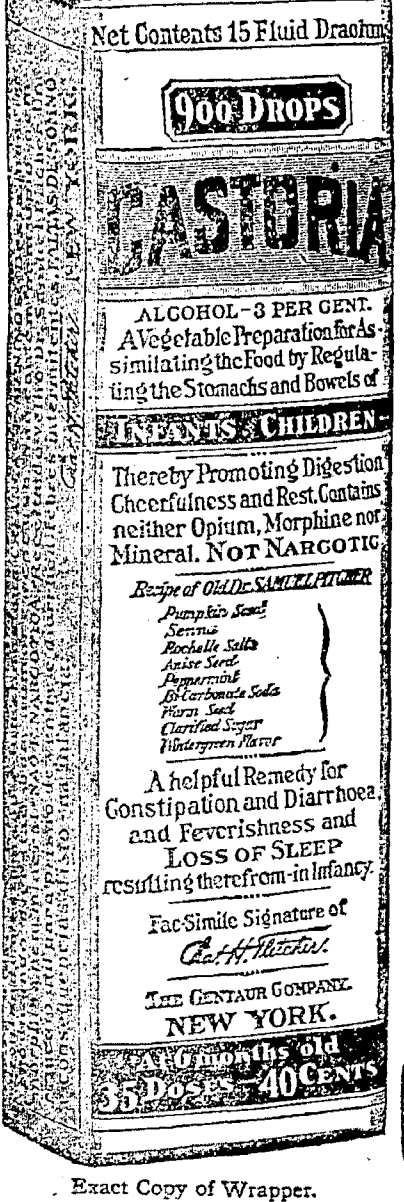

CHICAGO, April 4.—From 50,000 to 100,000 letters are delayed at Chicago post-office because the sender, writing to a firm or person presumably well known, gives no street address, according to Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder.

Incoming letters are sorted on the railway mail trains for direct delivery to sub-stations in various parts of the city. The railway mail clerks, unfamiliar with the addresses of firms or individuals, throw such letters aside. At the Chicago post-office a special force of clerks sorts them over. The result is a delay of several hours.

Weak, Thin, and Run-Down on Three Big Meals a Day

What to do to help put on good firm flesh, increase weight, strength and energy and obtain a more beautiful form and figure

Since the discovery of an amazing food factor called Vitamines, science now shows why thousands may be thin, weak and undernourished on three big meals a day. No matter how much you eat if you lack a sufficient quantity of Vitamines, you become weak, thin, nervous, emaciated, easily fatigued, run-down and "all-in," and may actually develop serious disease. This is especially true of those who eat principally soups, white bread, fish, potatoes, tinned fruits and vegetables, pies and cakes, and other foods which have been deprived of their Vitamines, either by throwing away the husks and skins of the foods which contain the Vitamines, or in which the Vitamines have been destroyed by the high degree of heat used in cooking.

While we now know the almost miracle-like results produced by Vitamines, even the most learned scientists are yet unable to explain their exact nature. We do know, however, that when taken with organic Nuxated Iron, people who have been thin, weak, nervous and run-down, in some cases even for years, often quickly gain surprising strength and energy, put on good, firm flesh, wonderfully round out face and figure and become more alert and vigorous both physically and mentally.

By helping to create millions of new, red blood cells, Nuxated Iron taken after meals unquestionably increases the power of the body to transform lifeless food matter into living cells, flesh, muscle and bone. And Vitamines taken before meals mixes with your food and acts as a powerful nutritious substance. Without organic iron in your blood, your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good—you do not get any nourishment or strength out of it and therefore both food and Vitamines are absolutely useless. It is for this reason that organic Nuxated Iron should be taken with Vitamines.

To prove to you the surprising results which we feel should be quickly obtained from this valuable combination, arrangements have been made with druggists in this city to give you a LARGE DOLLAR PACKAGE OF GENUINE YEAST VITAMINE TABLETS ABSOLUTELY FREE with your purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron. Weigh yourself before you start taking them, then again after ten days and see how much you have increased in weight. And if you have not obtained all and even more benefits than you expected, the manufacturers will refund your money. IMPORTANT: We recommend that you do not take Vitamines unless you wish your weight increased—if you merely wish greater strength, energy, physical and mental vigor, we recommend that you take Nuxated Iron only.

William found a pocketbook But the string jerked it back

It looked like a happy discovery as it lay there on the sidewalk—until the discoverer reached to pick it up. Then the hidden string jerked it away. All William got was disappointment.

That's the way a good many people have found it to be with the comfort and cheer they thought they had secured in tea and coffee. When they came to depend on it—there was a hidden string, and nothing left but disappointment.

The drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee, is a nerve stimulant. Constant stimulation of the nerves often produces rebellion that takes the form of sleeplessness, headaches, irritability, high blood pressure. That's the string to tea and coffee.

Postum, that wholesome and delightful cereal beverage, is completely satisfying and there's no harmful quality whatsoever, to jerk away the comfort which you find in this splendid table drink. Any member of the family may enjoy Postum with any meal—and there will be no after-regrets.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant-Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by grocers.

BUTTERFLY GIVES EDITH MASON HER MASTER TRIUMPH

Sensational Soprano Scores
Heavily in Puccini's Delightful Melodies.

Puccini's immortal melodies once again held sway in San Francisco last night when "Madame Butterfly" was produced at the Auditorium by the Chicago Grand Opera. The title whose triumphs in Chicago and New York this season have become the talk of the operatic world. Miss Mason's beautiful soprano voice was heard to perfection in the role of the broken-hearted Japanese beauty, of whose personality she gave a charming impersonation. Her voice was keyed to the dramatic and passionate character of her role, and her reading of "Un bel di vedremo" moved the huge audience to an applause which partook of the nature of an ovation.

Edward Johnson was excellent in the part of Pinkerton, the naval officer who deserts his Japanese bride, and his close voice, with its precise diction, mingled well with that of the soprano. His acting was on a par with the quality and expression of his voice.

George Baklanoff, the Russian singer, did not have a sufficient scope for his great baritone in the small part of Sharpless. The part of Suzuki was admirably suited to the deep contralto of Irene Pavloska. The other roles were filled by Jose Mojica, Constantin Nicolay, Octave Dux, Philine Falco, Sallustio Clival and Louis Dorman. The baton was wielded by Giorgio Polacco with his accustomed genius and mastery.

By special request, "Tannhauser" will be repeated tonight with the same great cast which made it such a huge success last week. The production will be in the German language.

Tomorrow night Mary Garden, having recovered from the severe cold which she contracted recently, will sing the title role in Louise, supported by Theodore Ritch, George Baklanoff and Maria Chausson, and on Thursday night Mary Garden will again sing in "Salome." Richard Strauss' famous work, in which she will be supported by Muratore and others.

Ever since she has been indisposed and had to keep to her room at the Fairmont, Mary Garden has been the recipient of huge floral offerings, sent by admirers from all parts of the bay region. It was in a setting of Easter lilies, roses, carnations and poppies that she made the statement yesterday: "I shall sing for you on Wednesday night, if it kills me."

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter. Mrs. W. S. Hughes, Greenville, Del. RAILWAYS WILL SEEK PAY FOR CHANGE IN DRIVE

HALIFAX, April 4.—If the Nova Scotia legislature passes a bill now before it, to change the rule of the road and adopt a "drive to the right," electric railway companies operating in the province will demand compensation for making the necessary changes in their equipment, representatives of the companies announced here today. From time immemorial the English system "drive to the left" has been in vogue in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and movements are on foot in all three provinces to get into line with the rest of Canada and the United States on the rule of the

NEW YORK, April 4.—Ninety-one persons have been slain in New York since the first of the year, according to records in the office of the chief medical examiner. There have been 105 holdups.

Recently British Columbia adopted the more general plan. So thorough has been the application of the English rule that street cars would have to make considerable changes in their cars and snow sweepers if the right-hand drive were adopted and they will ask the province to pay them $50,000 indemnity.

In British Columbia the electric railway companies demand for $350,000 compensation was upheld by the courts.

Texas Hard Hit by Electrical Storm

DALLAS, Tex., April 4.—Ruin here and generally reported from all over Texas continued, falling last night with varied electrical phenomena.

Six buildings were demolished and telephone and telegraph wires tangled at Goldswaiter, in Mills county, by a tornado. No one was injured. Rivers and streams were reported swollen. The entire Panhandle was reported covered by rain.

TRUCE SOUGHT BY SOCIALISTS

BERLIN, April 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Efforts to effect a truce among the three groups of international socialists now holding sessions in Berlin have failed to bring the warring elements together in time for a resumption of the meeting which was broken off Sunday through a clash between Emil Vandervelde, the Belgian representative, and Karl Radek, the Russian delegate.

Motorist Ordered To Pay for Wreck

It cost Steve Malcolm $145 to pay for the damage done by Malcolm to L. C. Woodson's auto when he crowded the latter off the Tunnel road and wrecked the car. Judge Puffer fixed the amount. Woodson, according to evidence introduced in his damage suit against Malcolm, was driving down the Tunnel road when he passed him at high speed and cut in ahead of him so sharply that the fender of the large car caught the front wheel hub of Woodson's smaller car and turned it over the embankment. Malcolm was arrested at Walnut Creek, charged with violation of the motor vehicle law, inasmuch as he did not stop to render Woodson aid.

POPE MAY HAVE ENVOY AT PARLEY

ROME, April 4.—The Vatican is seeking to participate actively in international politics, according to information secured today from an authoritative source. It is understood that Pope Pius XI is sending a note to the sponsors of the Genoa conference expressing the hope of the Roman church that it will bring about disarmament. Furthermore, it is understood that the note protests because the Vatican has not been allowed to take a direct part in the international political conferences.

Margot Asquith Changes Views on U. S. Ere She Sails

NEW YORK, April 4.—(By Associated Press.)—Passengers on the Mauretania today included Mrs. Margot Asquith and her daughter, Princess Bessie.

Another passenger was Mrs. Hamilton Wright, of Washington, D. C., who will attend the second session of the League of Nations on April 19. More than a thousand fashionable New Yorkers who crowded the grand ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria last night to hear Mrs. Asquith's final verdict on America and Americans, were surprised to find that after all she thought America the country, and Americans, as a whole, a mighty nice folk.

The noted British wife of a former prime minister, and author of one of the frankest series of pictures of eminent Britishers that country has ever read—poked a little fun at American "culture chasers" and dollar chasers; twitted them about prohibition laws that do not prohibit, and spoke a bit of her mind about messy factories and outdoor billboards that clutter up American scenery.

But she ended with a fervid tribute to America—to "America's great President; her fine government; her vital generous citizenry"—and urged the nurturing of stronger bonds between the two nations.

"What could we not do if we stood together?" she exclaimed.

"One thing we could do—we could make it very difficult to have another war."

MARGOT IS DIFFERENT. The Margot who bade New York farewell was a different Margot from the one who made her bow before a critical, growling hostile audience upon her arrival for a whirlwind tour January 30.

Then she seemed to sense an atmosphere of unfriendliness. Last night she radiated confidence of her reception, and smiled brightly as she curtained in acknowledgment of the applause that greeted her appearance.

She sat easily in her chair as the audience forgot her, exchanged informal greetings with acquaintances in the nearest seats, and waited for her daughter, the Princess Bessie, who occupied a box with Prince Ribesio, the Rumanian minister to the United States.

And her first experience with a New York audience was the first thing she touched on when she began her lecture, the subject of which was advertised as "My American Experience and Impressions."

"I was much relieved," she declared, "when a woman in the gallery called out, 'We've had enough of you. We want our money back.' I could have hugged her."

"But since then," she continued, "I have been in Boston, in Philadelphia, in Chicago, in Kalamazoo—oh, in ever so many places—and I have had many wonderful experiences. The generosity with which I have been received, I never shall forget."

"For," she explained, "they came to me and offered me things that were foolish."

With that much of a start, she dove into the prohibition question. "When I came over, I thought I would find everybody happy and sober. Happy I find them, but not sober. I found them finished the sentence."

IDEA IS FINE. The prohibition idea is fine," she continued, "but I don't think it is working out as was expected. It may help the corner saloon, but I doubt if it won't be modified."

"There is a great deal of drinking in our country, but they don't do it as we do. They are not drinking for fun, but because of our love for games."

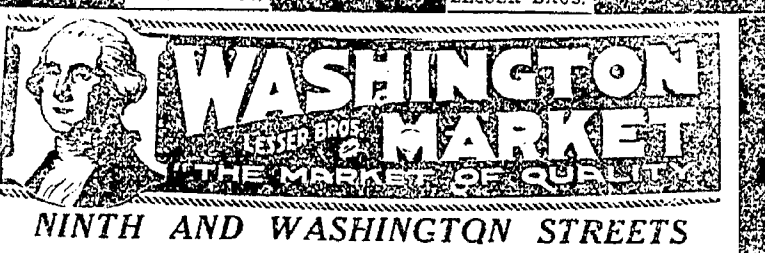

The "culture chasers" came next. The phrase, she said, was that of a member of one of her middle-western audiences who wanted to know what she thought of "American culture chasers."

"I think culture is a very fine thing," she said, "but why chase it? One doesn't get culture by chasing it."

Landscape spotters came next. "When I went to Buffalo to see Niagara Falls," she said, "I thought we would climb a long, arduous road, through a green country. Instead, we went in a private motor, through dense streams on motor lorries and trams. I began to wonder when we would get to the lonely wild country."

"Suddenly I noticed we were passing the beautiful falls, and called to the chauffeur. 'Oh!' he said, 'I thought you'd want to go to the power station.'"

"I think you are inclined to commercialize too much. I found Niagara Falls surrounded by factories, by bill boards and everything."

I disliked most. It seemed to me so petty I could hardly speak when I got out and looked.

"And Chicago—we drove out Michigan Boulevard, with the lovely water at our side and the beautiful drive before us. I thought surely we would come to a cathedral or something magnificent at the end. And we found—a garishly lighted bathing beach."

"You are inclined to value money a little too much. Your men are so busy. They run about so. They are just like the movies—always on the move."

"You do not seem to value leisure when you can get it. Your games, baseball and football, are so much shorter than ours. Everything seems rather hurried."

Mrs. Asquith began her lecture closely for an hour. Then, with another quaint curtsy, she swept from the platform to meet members of the Society of Friends of Humanity under whose auspices the farewell lecture was given.

Statistics Say Four to One Against You

Unless you take proper precautions, the odds are four to one that you will contract Pyorrhea before or after you pass the age of forty.

Something to think about, isn't it?

There are two things you can do: play the long shot and pay the probable penalty, or set about in a sensible manner to insure your teeth.

Pyorrhea has cost many an individual his teeth and health. It starts with tender, bleeding gums. That is the danger signal you should be quick to heed.

Ignore it and Pyorrhea does its deadly work in a hurry. The gums recede, the teeth loosen and drop out or must be pulled. Pus pockets form at the roots of the teeth and disease germs swarm throughout the system.

You must not let Pyorrhea gain headway in your mouth. At the first warning, see your dentist and start using Forhan's For the Gums at once.

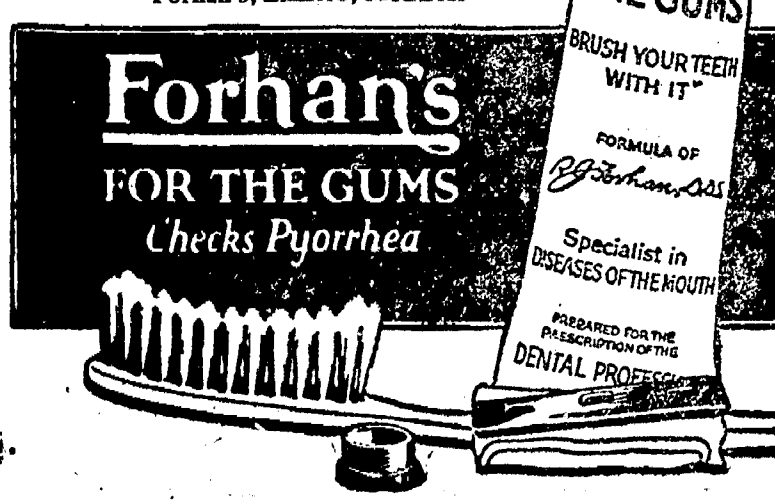

Forhan's For the Gums is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S. If used consistently and used in time it will prevent Pyorrhea or check its course.

Don't wait a day longer. Stop at your druggist's at once, buy a tube of Forhan's and start using it today.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's regularly. It is an excellent dentifrice and will keep your teeth and mouth in perfect health.

Four out of five wait too long. Don't be one of them. 35c and 60c at all druggists.

Finances to Stir California Clubwomen

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Finances are destined to stir feminine circles at the close of the club season. The shadow of the material will fall on district and state conventions alike, probably disturbing the otherwise placid program. There has been proposed by the business committee of the California Federation of Women's Clubs an amendment which would increase the dues for state membership from fifteen cents annually to fifty cents, thereby adding to the club budget of each of the 50,000 club women the sum of thirty-five cents. Adopted, automatically each federated club would hold membership in the General Federation of Women's Clubs and be entitled to representation therein. Included in the increase is the ten cent dues which are allowed to district expenses.

Admittedly the woman movement has reached the time when proper financing is imperative. No longer before the immense programs which are being put across may federations ask trained volunteer leaders to bear the expenses of overhead. Headquarters, also, are in demand with an adequate office force. All this makes imperative some source of finance. Sponsors of the proposed increase in state dues are declaring that the dignity and importance of the California Federation necessitates the substantial raising of dues. The scope of the work justifies it. They are offering the argument that while it will mean but three cents a month to each club woman, it will aggregate a most desirable fund for general activities.

Opposition will be developed from many quarters. It is admitted. Without doubt the question will intrude itself into the annual convention of Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be held in Berkeley, April 19-21. It is possible that the delegated body will be called upon for some expression of opinion to be carried to the annual state convention in Los Angeles during the first week in May.

District board executive meetings—so far as Alameda district is concerned at least—are to attain to a new dignity when the new club year has been launched. Mrs. George A. Riggs, district president, is recognizing the claims which the club women in Contra Costa, San Joaquin, Calaveras, and Tuolumne counties have and will inaugurate a series of traveling board meetings to accept the hospitality of each group. No longer will the "women about the hay" have all the advantage of the monthly conference. Moreover, all day executive board meetings will be instituted. Business has become so pressing that a morning will not dispatch it with efficiency. Department work will be featured at the conclusion of each session. Chairmen who find something of particular interest in present or a speaker with peculiar message, will have charge of the closing hour, which will be opened to all club women interested. The innovation is designed by Mrs. Riggs to bring into closer relations all sections of the broad district.

Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg, president of Alameda County Federation of Women's Clubs, will call an executive board meeting next week when a program of work will be considered. Mrs. Rosenberg will probably offer to her fellow officers an outline of a plan for a study of Alameda county.

Freemont High School Parent Teacher Association, famed for its clever ideas, will host a benefit card party tonight, which its sponsors declare will excel in every way any function undertaken before. The mothers will entertain in Redmen's Hall, Ninety-fourth avenue and East Fourteenth street. Preparations are being made for fifty tables. Twenty hands will be played.

C. W. Dickey, supervising architect under the Oakland school department, will show stereopticon slides of the new buildings and review the building program before the economics section, Oakland Center, California Civic League of Women Voters, Friday, April 14, at 11 a. m. in Ahmues Temple, Thirteenth and Harrison streets. Mrs. Ella P. Towell, chairman, has announced that affiliation with the study group will not hereafter be limited to members of the civic center.

Laurel Hall Club will tomorrow receive the report of the nominating committee appointed to name the board of directors for the coming year. Mrs. Harry J. Schuler of Berkeley is the presiding officer. The later program will be devoted to an analysis of "If Winter Comes" (A. S. M. Hutchinson.) Those who will contribute to the round table are: Miss Christine Hart, Mrs. H. L. Dewey, Mrs. E. C. Priber, Mrs. Frances A. Wright.

The concert by the Uniform Club in Lockwood School tonight will be open to all those who enjoy music or are interested in the work which is being done in the elementary schools. Lockwood Boys' Band has made for itself a wide reputation, attested to by a long line of silver cups and trophies. Approximately 75 young musicians will have part in the program.

BANDITS AND RECOGNITION.

Whatever aspect the arguments for or against the recognition of Mexico may assume, it would appear to have no relations to a certain demand for a concentration of troops on the southern border. The recognition question hinges, largely, upon the interpretation and application of Mexican laws, which would give no recourse to the American investor in time of trouble and which, in specific terms, afford no protection to "lives, liberties and properties."

No one in Mexico contemplates a resort to arms over this recognition matter; none of the raiders reported to have crossed the border in recent weeks, it is probable, knows such a controversy is being brewed.

On one side of the line are prosperous American communities offering a temptation to the lawless of an impoverished and war-torn country. Northern Mexico is close to desolation; the goal of the bandits is beyond the border. Is there anyone who would deny that, were the situation reversed, the thieves of this country would seek their plunder in Mexico?

Bandit raids have furnished the excuse for a demand of a heavy military movement on the border and many of the arguments for such a display of force would carry the implication that it is against the acts of official Mexico that the army must demonstrate its strength and readiness. An answer is that the citizens of the border States oppose such a move and that the feeling near the line is that this country should extend aid to the Mexican government in checking the lawless acts of its desperadoes.

There is danger less bandits be confused with politics.

AN OPPORTUNITY.

Within a few weeks business men of Oakland will make a tour of the inland empire called San Joaquin. It will be no parade of our glories through the back country, no boasting junket of self-satisfaction, and, it is to be hoped, all restraint will not be lifted from appetite and oratory.

Oakland will go into the San Joaquin ready and anxious to learn. A result will be a new realization of the wealth and importance, the opportunity and the splendors of the State's interior. If that realization can be converted into terms of service, service by Oakland to its back-country, this community will at last assume a role which has long been waiting.

The marketing and legislative problems of the San Joaquin, and of all Northern California, are the problems of Oakland. The link of understanding should be established that this city may couple, with its willingness to aid, a knowledge for effectiveness. If the business men who visit the valleys, the oil fields and the Mother Lode on the trip which will take them from Stockton to Bakersfield, find out what it is that Oakland may do for those cities they will have come back with material upon which to build a greater prosperity and a greater glory for all.

THE ALBANIAN PROTEST.

For five hundred years the privilege of women in Albania to wear trousers has been more than a right; it has been the correct and the conventional thing. While feminists in other lands were dreaming of a day when they, too, could don the bifurcated symbols of emancipation the Albanian belles and matrons were kept in ignorance of such things as skirts and petticoats. It is true they were forced to veil their faces but even this, in a country where more than half of the women are not beautiful, worked for a higher level of content. The woman of Albania bowed her head before her lord and master until her brow caressed the pavement, but she wore trousers centuries before Dr. Mary Walker.

When the bloomer craze hit England and America it was nothing in the old life of Albania. Those brave few who have walked through jeering throngs in "reform" garb of the trousered design have been pioneers in a movement which so far, has produced no more than the knickerbockers of the golf links. It is not so much what the Albanian women may think of their sisters in this country that is meat for speculative thought just now, as what the women, over here, may think of them. For in Albania, after five hundred years of trousers, the women have taken to skirts.

They like the looks of the American Red Cross Workers and they are quite determined that man shall no longer force them into the slavery of trousers.

THE LAST HAPSBURG.

Charles, dethroned emperor of Austria and the last of the Hapsburgs, died firm in the belief that, by divine right, he was still king. Something of medieval romance and color clung to this man along with a deadening weight of superstition and an inbred sense of the glory of his name.

Charles was a king who fought twice to regain his throne. He was a monarch, in this century, who stood with his queen on the field of battle and saw the tide of conflict sweep and turn until it bore him down. Like Napoleon he bowed under the edict of exile and, with all of the faith that he could not permanently be kept from his throne, he plotted and refused to abdicate.

A painstaking review of the life of the last Hapsburg would justify no eulogies. He was a maudlin victim of a system which made puppets. The corrugations in his brain were those of a line of men, women, and children to whom thousands of others had paid abject homage. In his brief span he saw the glitter of pageantry and the reckless hilarity which precedes the fall. With what amazement kings like Charles must have looked when all the structures in their narrow limits tottered, and with what frantic zeal they called upon the fears of their people and the names of their ancestors for help. The junkman has the scepter and the throne and legend claims the theory of divine rights.

It may well be that Charles will have been the last king ever to stand on a field of battle and the last for whom exile will be considered necessary. Already a world wonders how it could have taken him, and what he stood for, seriously.

Germany has now got to the pass where the Chancellor declares the reparations demands to be intolerable and impossible of being met, and mass meetings support him. This seems to fore-shadow refusal to pay, in which event what will be done about it? Are the European allies sufficiently homogeneous and untrammelled to take steps to compel payment? There is one country whose soldiers will not be there on the Rhine should compulsion be resorted to, and that at least may be calculated on.

They have organized an anti-flapper society in a New Mexican town, with the purpose of cutting out this description of female from the marriagable herd. Incidentally a considerable general service is performed in defining just what a flapper is. She is one addicted to immodest dancing, bobbed hair, face painting, too short dresses and rolled hose. There is likely to be general wonder if all the young men of the New Mexican town have sworn off getting married at all.

It used to be said of an actor who ranted unduly that he "chewed soap," but it was not considered that any one actually did that. But here is a man at San Jose who tried it. And he was something of an actor, or essayed to be. He ate the soap to make himself ill, so that he would be removed from the jail to a hospital. The experiment was a complete success. It made him so ill that he did not recover.

The President of the United States has shown his fibre in removing the director of the bureau of engraving and printing and thirty chiefs of divisions. The matter was not referred to a committee or somebody for investigation and report, but on such evidence as he already had the President acted. Exactly what is the matter has not yet been stated, but it has been hinted that the printing of Liberty bonds has been botched.

The radio craze has caused the aspirant for political office to prick up his ears. He sees possibility of getting his propaganda before the elector more definitely and cheaply and certainly than through the old mediums of the circular letter, the staring poster, and the perfervid orator.

INDIAN CHILDREN WITHOUT SCHOOLS.

Here's another charge against the state of California in regard to its treatment of Indians. Superintendent Will C. Wood reports, after an investigation, that Indian children's education is being neglected. Local school boards in various sections of the state manifest little interest in the enrollment of Indian children, either on or off reservations. Too frequently when they attend school with white children, Wood said, they are wanted merely for their attendance, which swells the amount of federal money received. School facilities are insufficient and inadequate on some of the reservations, he said. All of which may be regarded as authoritative and adding to the shame California should feel for its shabby treatment of these dispossessed aborigines and their native-born children. Meantime nearly half-grown adults who come to us are afforded excellent free school facilities, even to the doors of the university, at least in the cities of California. It looks as if with all our good will and sympathy for people afar, we might come under the classification of having left several things undone that we ought to have done. Stockton Record.

The philosophical Sinn Fein who by the way, has not returned "Scaramouche," brings up, in defense, the old argument that a man's books are not his own but his friend's. We have long been aware of that. There are six friends who have asked us to loan them "Scaramouche," for instance, and to each we have replied that were it not for the fact that one man, the possessor of the altruistic theory regarding other men's books, had kept the book to himself for three months, we would be able to do the favor. If our books are meant to be loaned, and we concede the point, we reserve the right to do the loaning.

Mrs. Frank O. Stone is proud of her six Plymouth Rock hens, which lay an egg a day. The other day she gathered seven eggs in one day.

Every day for two weeks she found seven eggs in the nests. Suspecting a trick on the part of the hens, Mrs. Stone marked all the eggs she gathered one day, and the next day one of the marked eggs was in the nest. Then Mrs. Stone confessed to fooling her by carrying back an egg to the poultry house each day. Last year Mr. Stone fooled his neighbors by tying several tomatoes of different hues and types on a vine on which green tomatoes were growing. NOTES and COMMENT

The Chicago Tribune tells how a Detroit Judge deals with speeders: "Judge C. L. Bartlett of the Detroit traffic court says that when he endeavored to control speeding by assessing small fines he noticed a great many repeaters in the court. He had persons stand about in the courtroom crowd to pick up the remarks of the speeders and learned that they did not pay any attention to fines, so he determined to send the offenders to jail. Louis Ilesnick, in the National Safety News, says he sat in Judge Bartlett's court and heard him send twenty-nine speeders to manual labor in the House of Correction for from one to ten days. Five of the persons sentenced were reputed to be millionaires."

The Kansas City Times advises a Milwaukee organization: "Some citizens of Milwaukee, who call themselves the Liberty League, want to get a charter in Kansas so they can explain to that state the desirability of repealing the prohibition enforcement laws. Explaining to Kansas that liberty and booze are the same thing probably will keep the league pretty busy, and if it has anything else on hand it ought to finish it up before it gets on the new job, that is if it is worth anything in its business."

The Salt Lake Tribune speaks for "Utahns" as to Herbert Hoover: "Though the works of Herbert Hoover have been known to Utahns since he first went to the relief of Belgium, and though he entered every home of the state, high or humble, as food administrator of the United States, it was not until this week that Utahns had the opportunity of seeing and knowing one of the outstanding figures of the generation."

The Kansas City Times, on the "psychology" of booze destruction: "Prohibition Commissioner Haynes has stopped the public destruction of seized booze on the ground that it incites the spectators to regret and anger. If the government carries psychological studies a little further, it may yet discover how the country feels about taxes."

The New York Sun takes note of an "unusual" judge: "Police Judge Wappick of Omaha sentenced three men arraigned before him on vagrancy charges to ten days in jail. When the ydummed judge suspended their sentences on condition that they should spend their loafing time for ten days in the public library. This unusual incident is reported by wire from Omaha. The correspondent adds that the men 'agreed,' which was as considerate as the judge's final decision."

A Yolo county man went out to the barn recently, dug up his tin can bank and found that six hundred dollars of his two thousand dollars were missing. WHEN FATHER BROKE HIS ARM

Pa never gets a story straight. He's always mixed about the date or where it was, or what occurred or who related what he heard. And every time he starts to tell some little story he knows well, Ma says: "No Pa, as I recall that isn't how it was at all."

"Remember when I broke my arm," says Pa, "when we were on the farm and I went out that slippery morn. A few days after Bud was born. To get some wood"—and Ma says: then:

"Oh, Pa, don't tell that tale again! And, anyhow, I know right well Bud wasn't born the day you fell."

"'Twas months before he came," says Ma.
"'Twas after he was born," says Pa; "I rather think I ought to know just when it was I suffered so."
"Maybe you ought," says Ma, "but still I saw you tumble down the hill, and it was March with snowdrifts high—"
Bud wasn't born till next July."

"I'd walk him round the floor," says Pa.
"You're all mixed up again," says Ma.

"We'll ask Aunt Lizzie, she was there, she'd come to help," says Ma. I swear You're just as crazy as a loon, Aunt Lizzie didn't come till June. To argue on it is most absurd. Bud wasn't born when that occurred."

I wish I knew just what is what or whether I was born or not. But I'll just have to sit and wait until Pa gets his story straight. And I have never heard at all just how it was he chanced to fall. For Pa and Ma can't yet agree which one came first—the fall or me.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why Even Hotel Men Say "Eat Well But Wisely"

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

We rarely think of hotel managers as sanitarians, but, after all, when we observe the finished service of the modern hotel we are prepared for anything. The conveniences of a hotel are almost beyond belief.

There is the electric sign in the room announcing the presence of mail in your box. There is running ice water to drink. There is an electric heater for your curling-iron. There is a polishing-cloth for your shoes. Stationery, sanitary soap and wash-cloth, hangers for your coat, and a tibble to nourish your soul—all these are found in every room.

Along comes Mr. Roy Carruthers, managing director of one of the great hotels in New York, and says: "Hotel guests, being away from home, are more apt than any other class to be upset by their meals."

To insure the utmost in physical comfort he has devised special means to counteract the bad effects of the diseases which are aggravated by wrong eating. The cases discussed which he believes are likely to annoy the traveling public are obesity, diabetes, constipation, rheumatism, gout, high blood-pressure and malnutrition.

All you need do, I suppose, is to call for "Menu No. 1," and everything will be supplied to satisfy your hunger without creating trouble so far as your choice ailment is concerned.

Really it is too bad this plan is not in operation in every home. Wisely selected food will go farther toward the cure of at least six of the seven diseases mentioned than almost any medicine that could be prescribed.

I doubt if rheumatism is greatly influenced by food, but muscular twinges are frequently associated with intestinal disturbances which may have been caused by bad eating. So, after all, I guess I will go the whole route with Mr. Carruthers.

Of course, when we go to a hotel we are inclined to indulge ourselves a bit. Why take a sandwich to a banquet? This is the way most of us feel about the palatial hotel atmosphere. The result is that prolonged hotel life is bad for most folks. It takes real character to resist the temptations of a bill-of-fare.

Indiscretions in diet are trying to all of us. They are particularly trying to the obese and the constipated. Proper dieting will do wonders for the diabetic. Gout and malnutrition cannot be cured without attention to food. High blood-pressure is usually due to kidney disease, which has resulted from the sins of the table.

A hotel is the last place in the world one would expect reforms in feeding to originate. It is refreshing to find an active business man with the courage to tackle a health problem of this sort. I haven't seen his menus, but, whether we approve them or not, we must commend Mr. Carruthers for his progressive idea.

May I suggest that the guests who have not yet acquired one of the seven bad diseases be warned that simplicity in eating is the surest means of escaping ailments?

It is announced that President E. H. Harriman of the Southern Pacific will soon be a visitor to Oakland.

"ARKKDOO," MEANING "YAN-KEE DOODLE."

It is more than a century ago that the young Congressman from Virginia, James Monroe, married the beautiful Tory belle of New York, Miss Kortright. Her long social life in old New York, her high residence abroad, especially at the French capital, was in accordance with her temperament and tastes. In elegant manners she was superior, in conversational graces and refinements she had no peer. She was very popular in Paris, and the story is told that one night as they entered their box at the theater the house broke into a storm of cheers and the land struck up "Yankee Doodle" in compliment to the Americans, and an old French woman, "encoring the music, called out, "Arkndoo," "Arkndoo!" which was her best effort toward pronouncing "Yankee Doodle."—National Republican.

COAL PLENTIFUL FOR DEMAND OF EASTBAY CITIES

There is no shortage of coal in the Eastbay district, and there will be plenty of coal even if the strike spreads to the Utah fields.

This was the message of some of the principal coal dealers in the district to the residents of the Eastbay community when it was learned from dispatches that an attempt was being made to organize the men in the Utah mines, now non-union, and strengthen the strike movement.

According to the coal dealers, there is supply enough for sixty days in Oakland and Alameda and for ninety days in Berkeley. In the event that the strike is called in the interim the coal dealers will use Australian coal, according to their announcements.

"Oakland uses about 75,000 tons a year," said J. C. Rohan, manager of the American Block Coal company, "and there will be no difficulty in supplying the demand. At the present time local dealers can go for sixty days. If there is need then for coal we will get it from the Australian fields."

"Although Wyoming and Utah supply us with the major portion of our coal, we have no reason to be alarmed," said Harry C. Williams, proprietor of the coal company of that name. "Summer is coming and the demand is light. Even if it were not, we can get by nicely."

The city of Alameda, using about 25,000 tons of coal each year, is likewise in good shape, according to coal dealers. George Otzen, proprietor of the Koerber Fuel and Feed company, said that every dealer in Alameda can last for sixty days. In Berkeley, according to H. J. Haney, the annual demand is 35,000 tons, and there is enough on hand now to last until July 1.

THREAT SENT WOMAN BOOK STORE OWNER

Proprietor of Circulating Library to Leave Before "Holy Saturday;" Death to Be Alternative, Note Says

Threats against the life and property of Mrs. Helen Lotsperch, proprietor of a circulating library at 2850 Telegraph avenue, are being investigated by the police today.

The inauguration of the police investigation follows the receipt by Mrs. Lotsperch of a threatening letter, in which she is ordered to leave town by "Holy Saturday."

The letter is signed by "Four sufferers of your system of renting books, and we will get you and your books if you stay there. Be out of these by Holy Saturday or die."

Mrs. Lotsperch discovered the missive this morning when she opened her store. It was in an envelope addressed to her and had been slipped under the door.

She immediately summoned Policeman S. S. Britt of the Northern police station, who in turn turned over the document to Captain of Inspectors Richard V. McSorley. Inspectors Joseph Robinson and Alex Trotter are investigating.

The letter is in a woman's writing, according to the police, and the spelling and grammar indicate an uneducated person. The letter reads in part:

"You're making too much trouble in our home and we were going to blow up your store on Saturday, but one of the men persuaded us to first give you a chance to close your store and leave the city."

"We will give you until Holy Saturday and you and your books will see plenty of trouble."

According to Mrs. Lotsperch's story to the police, she has no enemies and cannot understand the reason for the threats. She said that she had always made it a point to give no books to minors without the consent of their parents and had had no verbal complaint from any parent on the books in circulation.

The police are inclined to take the note seriously.

"If the note was written in a child's handwriting it would indicate simply a prank," said Captain McSorley, "but its appearance would indicate something serious."

JUDGES PICK SCENARIOS IN TRIBUNE TEST

Announcement of Names of 44 Winners of Awards Will Be Made This Week. Los Angeles Experts Announce

"The choicest of the choice will now be chosen."

Word was received this morning by The TRIBUNE from the south that out of the thousands of scenarios submitted by readers in The TRIBUNE'S great contest for eleven and original screen stories, one hundred have been selected by the jury of famous film authorities which have been sitting in judgment.

The jury announces furthermore that the names of prize winners will be announced within a week from today.

All the judges have participated in the judging and in the work of elimination which has now narrowed down their choice to the one hundred scenarios of merit and originality. The judges are all names to conjure by in motion picturedom, such as Frank E. Woods, supervisor and chief of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, C. Gardner Sullivan, world-famous scenario writer, Marshall Neilan, the producer, Kate Corbaley, the scenario writer and Palmer Photoplay corporation expert, and Elmer Harris, former University of California man, director-general of Reelart, and noted playwright.

Of these, Kate Corbaley, Frank E. Woods and Elmer Harris will constitute the actual "Jury of Award," which will deliberate carefully and conscientiously during the present week, determining which forty-four are the "creme de la creme" out of the one hundred excellent screen stories so carefully selected.

According to a preliminary report by the judges, the standard of the scenarios thus far selected is exceptionally high, for school pupils and students, as well as for adults.

Expectation and excitement among those who have submitted scenarios, and among their relatives who have watched their efforts, are of course raised to a high pitch, now that the judges are about to make the final awards. Names and addresses of the winners will be published in The TRIBUNE as soon as the final result is flashed from the south.

Piedmont Matron Asks Leniency for Man Arrested on Charge of Attack

A plea of Mrs. Cyrus V. Voorhies, Piedmont society matron, not to send Charles Howland, interior decorator and war hero, to the penitentiary for his admitted attack on her in her home at 43 Manor drive, Piedmont, may result in Howland being permitted to withdraw his plea of guilty and face a jury trial.

According to the charge against Howland, to which he pleaded guilty several weeks ago, he entered Mrs. Voorhies' room while he was in her home doing some decorating work, seized her and, when she struggled, he had become intoxicated upon whisky which he found in Mrs. Voorhies' cellar.

Howland is said to have been awarded the Victory medal by the British government during the war and to have received several other decorations for bravery under fire.

Probation Officer Leonard D. Compton told Superior Judge Lincoln Church today that when Mrs. Voorhies learned that Howland would not be eligible for probation on account of the nature of the charge against him, she pleaded with him to permit her to withdraw her charge rather than send Howland to San Quentin. She said she was certain that Howland had not been himself because of intoxication at the time he made the alleged attack upon her.

Although Howland was to have been sentenced today, Judge Church continued the case until Friday morning to allow time for an investigation to decide whether or not to permit Howland to withdraw his plea of guilty and stand trial. It is expected that Mrs. Voorhies will be summoned into court at that time to express her views in the matter.

BUDGET ASSURES U. C. HALF MILLION MORE THIS YEAR

Income for Institution Will Be $7,000,000, Spruol's Figures Show.

BERKELEY, April 4.—A half million dollars more is assured the university for the coming year than the amount available last year, according to budget figures made known today by Comptroller Robert Spruol.

The university will have an income of approximately $7,000,000 for the coming year. Spruol's figures show.

Of this, $5,000,000 is income on endowments, $2,000,000 appropriations by the federal government, $4,000,000 by the state of California, and the balance from students' fees, receipts from the earnings of professional colleges, agricultural sales funds, outright gifts for specific purposes and similar items. The total is approximately $500,000 greater than that for the present fiscal year, the main difference being in the amount of state appropriations allotted to each half of the biennium.

MANY DEPARTMENTS.

This income is devoted to fifty departments, exclusive of administration and general maintenance of the plant. The following expenditures indicate the size of those departments serving the public interest in the largest and most direct measure.

Agriculture will expend during the coming year, for all purposes throughout the state, approximately $1,800,000; $740,000 on salaries and $1,060,000 for assistance, expense, equipment and research.

The medical school and hospitals in San Francisco will expend approximately $1,000,000, of which $500,000 will be earned by the hospitals, even though they are teaching institutions where a considerable percentage of patients are not charged.

COST OF LIBRARY.

The University library, which is the center of academic life, will expend almost $170,000, of which about $120,000 goes to the administration of the plant and $50,000 to the purchase of new books. Of this latter sum, about one-fifth is derived from income on endowments and four-fifths from the general funds of the university.

The southern branch of the university where students are trained for the teaching profession, will expend almost $650,000. The branch, with the opening of the new academic year, will be a teachers' college, giving a four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree, as well as the regular two years of college work for other students.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB HOLDS MEETING ON NEXT TUESDAY

That the Athens Athletic club has become a reality, and a club that is going to become one of the chief assets of the city is the statement of Norman de Vaux, president of the present board of directors, in issuing the call for a general membership meeting on Tuesday evening, April 11, in the Ivory ballroom of the Hotel Oakland. His statement follows:

"The Athens Athletic club was conceived during a period of depression, when business was suffering from the aftermath of the war, but was approved and organized by the most conspicuous element in our community. Every citizen that is athletic, awake, has in addition to its business, social and fraternal organizations, an athletic club which serves as the common meeting place for the leaders of all of a municipality's activities, whether business, social, or fraternal. Oakland needed such a club as this.

My Favorite Stories

by IRVIN S. COBB

This One Has Stood the Test of Time
Unlike hen's eggs and society dramas, good jokes, sometimes improve with age. Or at any rate they do not get old-fashioned with the rapidity that an egg does. Here is one which at intervals I have been hearing for years. It seems to me it gets better with each time of telling. I wonder if the reader will agree with me that its antiquity does not affect its excellence.

According to the most popular version, the thing is supposed to have appeared in a remote court house of Missouri. A resident of the Ozark Mountains whose reputation was none the best, had been on trial on the charge of horse stealing. The jury promptly returned a verdict of guilty without recommendation for mercy. Taking into consideration the past record of the offender, his Honor on the bench said:

"It is my intention to sentence you to at least eight years at hard labor in state's prison. Now then, before sentence is formally pronounced, I shall listen to anything you may have to say in your behalf." He paused for a reply. After a moment of consideration the offender spoke:

"Well," he said, "I don't know ez I've got any thing to say only this—it strikes me that you folks 'round this here cote house air purty toler'ble dam liberal with other people's time."

SOME MUSINGS ON NATURAL HISTORY.

Birds.

For birds I entertain a care,
I like the way they take the air.
Their singing soothes my inner ear
And I am pleased when they appear
In crimson feathering and blue—
In short, I think that birds will do;
But they eat worms, which proves, I'm sure,
Their taste is far from epicure.

Squirrels.

I quite approve of squirrels, I think,
Although I'd much prefer them pink;
Their teeth are sharp, their fur is soft
And nimbly they can shin aloft;
But I can't understand why they Should chew on hard-shelled nuts all day
When they could find much softer eats,
Like peas, bananas, soup and beets.

Worms.

I would not for a single term
Agree to underwrite the worm;
The way he rises after rains
Is proof to me he has no brains;
For he is stepped on in his flight,
Which must be quite distressing, quite;
Another reason why I think
The garden worm a silly gink:
His chassis is assembled wrong
And his wheelbase, now, is much too long.

People.

People are nice, but then I fear
There are too many people here;
When one would watch a function gay,
They're always standing in one's way;
And when in need of much repose
They park themselves upon one's toes.
I think they're ordinary, too,
And that includes myself and you.

It was Grace Draper who caught her as she fell and eased her to a reclining position upon the couch. "Hush," I said. "I had no time to give her. I caught Katie, who was still wildly calling the baby, and shook her into attention. "Where's Jim?" I demanded. "Out feckin' chicken coop," she returned. "But, oh, Missis Graham, is not baby?"

"Shut up!" I snarled, primitively, knowing there was but one way to deal with Katie in an emergency. "If you want to help find Junior, get Jim here on the run. Ask him if he has seen the baby."

WHERE IS DICKY?
She ran down the steps and skimmed over the ground like a swift-winged bird. I rushed to an emergency cupboard which I always install in every house in which I live, snatched a powerful flashlight, and, returning, thrust it into Grace Draper's hands.

"Point this to her nostrils," I directed, "and when she revives give her these drops."

I took the small bottle of heart restorative from Mother Graham's handbag, laid it on the table with a spoon, set the water bottle and a glass near it. Then, having glanced every second, I rushed to the barn and brought my car out, blessing the fact that I had learned to drive, and was thus able to summon help quickly. I needed men to start a systematic search of the woods, and knew that the Ticer house had efficient aid.

Jim came running to the car as I backed it out of the barn, his honest face full of concern.

"I haven't seen the little chap for two hours, Mrs. Graham," he said, and I noted the tremor in his voice which betrayed how serious he thought the child's mysterious disappearance.

"I'm going to the Tickers to get men to search the woodland, Jim," I said feverishly. "Will you and Kate go at once over every inch of all the buildings, any place where he might have crawled in and gone to sleep—you never can tell what a child might think of, so that when the men get here we will know just where to start. And look after Mother Graham."

"I'll attend to everything," he said earnestly, then hesitatingly, as I put my foot on the clutch. "Mr. Graham, where is he, does he know?"

The question was like a blow from a bludgeon. "Where, indeed, was Dicky?" "Where was Dicky?"

The question which Jim had voiced brought insistently upon my brain what I dashed down the road toward the Ticer farm.

I knew one answer to it well enough. That I was somewhere with Edith Fairfax, I was certain, but the danger to Junior had wiped out all conscious jealousy and resentment of that fact. Subconsciously it was, no doubt, with me as with my knowledge of driving a car. But as for my own realization of the girl's concern she had ceased to exist. Sometime I would remember her, just as I would recall how I managed to drive my car automatically along the road.

But on that mad dash it was as if I were being projected through space without volition of my own, and all remembrance of my husband's derelictions was swallowed up in my desperate need for him. The center of civilization was stripped from me, and I was back in a primitive age. With my baby in danger and my man away I must reach him somehow.

The Ticer was in the yard as I turned into the roadway. She must have seen something was amiss, for even before I brought the car to a stop I heard her send forth her familiar slogan. "Here, you Ticer! Jerry!" Then she came to the car door with that appearance of leisurely slowness which she manages to give, yet she was at my side as I alighted, and gasped.

"Here you seen Junior?" She put her hand upon my shoulder as she answered, and I reflected afterward that she must have seen in my face something which made her fear I would swoon.

"No, Mrs. Graham," she said. "He hasn't been here all day. But he's somewhere around, you may be sure. Jerry ran away every day when he was Junior's age. We'll find him over right away and help him. How long has he been gone?"

If anything could have lightened my terrible fear it was her tone of words. But there was fast settling upon me the psychic conviction that this was no ordinary running away of a child, that something sinister menaced my little lad.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE

by Ramon Cuffman

What Did Children Do?

This is part of a series of narratives about the life of mankind that will continue throughout the year.

IN ALL AGES there are children. Let us remember that! Historians almost always speak only of men and women, but we are also interested in knowing what children did in ages past.

In the Stone Age, as always, we can be sure there were plenty of babies. We can be sure they cried from time to time and woke up their parents at night.

The little ones learned things as they grew up. Parents were the main teachers. "Point this to her nostrils," I directed, "and when she revives give her these drops."

I took the small bottle of heart restorative from Mother Graham's handbag, laid it on the table with a spoon, set the water bottle and a glass near it. Then, having glanced every second, I rushed to the barn and brought my car out, blessing the fact that I had learned to drive, and was thus able to summon help quickly.

I needed men to start a systematic search of the woods, and knew that the Ticer house had efficient aid. Jim came running to the car as I backed it out of the barn, his honest face full of concern.

"I haven't seen the little chap for two hours, Mrs. Graham," he said, and I noted the tremor in his voice which betrayed how serious he thought the child's mysterious disappearance.

Children like to imitate their parents, and what is more likely than that the boys made little spears for themselves and pretended to go out and hunt bears or lions? Perhaps other boys sometimes pretended to be fierce beasts, and either ran away from time to time and woke up their parents at night.

The little ones learned things as they grew up. Parents were the main teachers. "Point this to her nostrils," I directed, "and when she revives give her these drops."

Dr. Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

I'm tired of hearing the differences of men and women emphasized and exploited. It has built up a wall between the sexes and it's time we knocked it down. Men and women were meant to work together for the same ends under the fighting code. The sensible person denies that the feminine psychology differs so much from the masculine. The former who would boast women into the positions now occupied by men in the political and commercial world, the assumption that "anything a man can do, a woman can do better," is just as idiotic and harmful as the Turk who would keep his women veiled.

Women are different. So is a peacock different from a ploughshare. But a peacock is just as understandable, just as useful and dependable as a ploughshare. It is made for more delicate uses, but it does women's work as well as men's in the creative world, nor does it have to escape the common lot of cutting blades in general. And that's exactly the difference, and the only difference, that exists or should be recognized between men and women.

A woman is "tempered" differently, as a knife steel is tempered differently from ploughshare steel. But her mission is to be kind, to be beautiful or mysterious, to be sensitive or finely adjusted or exuberant than a man. If you cut a woman's hair, dress her in torn trousers and put them at a dressmaker's, you'd soon find out.

This letter from "Forgotten" came in this morning's mail and I am handing it on to you folks with an S. O. S. call. I know nothing of the writer or the facts other than I am giving you, but I believe them and I want help in knowing that they are true. Will you help?

"My Dear Jerry: "You are such a dear helpful person, I am sure you will comfort me in all my troubles. In the first place, my husband was killed in an accident three years ago, just as he was about to have the blessing that God gives of a dear little child. I have five small children, none of whom is over six years old. I have just lost my position as waitress because my clothes were getting so ragged. My dear mother and father are both poor and sometimes think it is for the best, because they were so poor and I could not help them.

"I am getting very tired of it all, and the sole pleasure of my miserable existence is in reading your papers. I have read your papers after the kiddies are asleep. "I am very sorry to bother you and I don't really think you will print this because you have so many more important ones, but please ask your gang to help me find a job, Jerry, and pray for some change of luck.

"From your admiring and sad friend, FORGOTTEN."

Will you send me your name and address? I am taking your letter at its face, and hope that what you say must be true. Any answer that comes in to your plea will be immediately forwarded to you, and I am hoping for your "change of luck."

Ruth wrote to Jerry some time ago, telling of her problem, and Ruth's question is one that has been faced by more girls than I like to think of. She is the right to inherit her own mistakes on another, or should she bear her burden, keep her integrity, play the game fairly and be STRONGER for her experience? From Dallas, Texas, came the following answer:

"Dear Jerry: "Tell Ruth this: Not only in Oakland, California, has her question been asked. I have seen the same question in two of the papers of yesterday. I have visited her, my return from California during December.

"Ruth, you are a good girl at heart. You have a desire to be a good girl, and you would never come into your mind. "Just the other day here in Dallas, Texas, your question was asked and answered. The answer was in keeping with my ideas. I thought of you when I read it.

"I want to say just a word regarding the average man. Not only the young man but a lot of the older boys. They are like a coal oil lamp. Why? Because they get lit up, smothered, and they are continually going out at night. "The above does not apply to every one of the boys, but will say, 'If I shoe fits, wear it.'

No, I was not my mama's darling, nor was I a white-bum either, but a lad. Just had enough horse sense to respect a girl who wanted to be respected.

To your Ruth, I say: Keep your misfortune to yourself. Tellers to doughnuts you are not going to let it happen again. That is why I am for you. A man is funny—no matter how much he loved you, thinking you had never had a misfortune of the kind, when you told him, even though he wanted to love you as before, I am afraid he couldn't. Keep it to yourself, dear girl, and look the world straight in the face. By telling you would not help him, just as surely as he has done, just as bad if not worse. Just know you are an 'honest to God girl and the world will respect you. Here's one that does to start with.

Jerry, your page of January 30 before me now. I have read each word my little toes out the laces out and send them to me. My travels take me all over the United States and I want you to know away east from Oakland, not your sheet. I have two children and want them to read everything; that is published by you. They should know and will know and be able to cope with conditions when the time arrives.

"Thanks, Jerry, I feel better. More power to you. "Sincerely, — A SALESMAN."

PROFESSIONAL PURITANS.

ANDRE TRIDON

THE professional puritan who is constantly disclaiming vice, exposing powder and rouge, silk stockings and low cut gowns, is not very different from a puritan. The former who would boast women into the positions now occupied by men in the political and commercial world, the assumption that "anything a man can do, a woman can do better," is just as idiotic and harmful as the Turk who would keep his women veiled.

see that a man as over-sexed as Tolson, and who could be disturbed sexually by a musical selection world, being otherwise honest and religious, try to protect the whole world against the artistic production. Normal people, on the other hand, can listen to that sonata a hundred times without over-receiving from it any low suggestions. Normal people can go to museums and admire pictures without any indecent thoughts in their mind. Such paintings and sculptures may suggest to them artistic enjoyment, physical beauty, youth, inspiration. To the over-sexed puritan they suggest mean lust and debauchery. The puritan has a common, uneducated, filthy mind.

The puritan being constantly bogged by physical feelings, he believes that every individual is a bludgeoned, and proceeds to protect them from dangers which are dangers for him alone. The puritan should be an object for pity instead of a source of a nation's morals.

Many puritans are morbidly honest. Many are merely affected puritans who, obsessed by a desire for cheap publicity and of being noticed, go to persuade their fellow beings in the name of purity. Many of the great apostles of purity would rather go to obscurity if they were suddenly to come into the world, than to be noticed in a simple, pure life, youth and beauty.

When the late Tolson, for instance, suggested that Roosevelt's Kreutzer Sonata be destroyed as it suggested obscene thoughts, the only conclusion to be drawn by any reasonable person was that Tolson's mind was unbalanced. It may be that the beautiful composition suggested obscene thoughts to him, but it was his fault, not Beethoven's thought.

To the more everything is pure, but to the puritan everything is impure. We can easily see that a man as over-sexed as Tolson, and who could be disturbed sexually by a musical selection world, being otherwise honest and religious, try to protect the whole world against the artistic production. ALL VARIETIES OF FRUIT KEEP IN KEEN DEMAND

Hints of Further Tilt in Citrus Quotations Are Being Heard in Street.

With oranges at $7 for fancy grades and the apple supply nearing its end it is not surprising that the market men look for another tilt in citrus fruit prices. The eastern demand for both oranges and lemons is promising and with a shortened crop to hold water, the market is tending firmer day by day. In sympathy with oranges and lemons grapefruit is also tending firm. As far as it goes the whole fruit market is in healthy state.

Apparatus was slightly weaker with the supply at 197 boxes. Lettuce was also shodden down a little for both imperial and Los Angeles. All varieties of home grown garden truck as far as the season calls for are in good quantity with prices trending downwards.

The California Packing corporation is opening many of its canneries and packing houses in northern California for the new season. Last week two plants in Yuba, two in Stockton and two in Sacramento were placed in operation, and today the Yuba plant is expected to be in full operation. The corporation is expecting a busy summer and plans to have every one of its canneries in operation before the middle of June.

The Stockton plant of the corporation expects to run at least six months on cherries and apples, followed by peaches and later by tomatoes. Weekly payroll will be about $10,000 when the full working force is employed.

The plant of the Pacific Fruit Packing company at Oakdale will handle the biggest crop of pumkin in its history. This year the plant will handle more than 200 acres of pumkin this year, and as the season has been unusually favorable, the company expects to handle more than double the normal production.

The cannery will be overhauled to handle the pumkin, which will be the first run. The pea crop will come in about the middle of June. Apparatus is going fast at present at the rate of a carload per day. This is a light shipment for this time of year. The California Vegetable Union, which says the normal shipment is about three cars per day at this time.

The extreme cold and continued unsettled weather has had the effect of delaying the ripening of the "grape".

Canebrake planting in the Delano district this season has leaped from 600 acres a year ago to over 4000 this year, with prospects for an increase. The canebrake planters should bring the Delano section to a place just under the Imperial Valley 5,000-acre mark in the opinion of the canebrake planters. The planting of 20,000 acres within three years is considered very likely.

'Peeping Tom,' Clad as Woman,
Sought by Berkeley Citizens

BERKELEY, April 4.—Both the police and residents in North Berkeley are on the alert to capture a "Peeping Tom" who apparently has donned feminine attire to make his identification more difficult.

The miscreant is described as wearing long, flowing white garments and persistently has annoyed North Berkeley families.

The last reports concerning his activities come from Mrs. Charles Barrett, 1751 Walnut street, who says the intruder at intervals spent two days peering through the windows of the Barrett home.

ARREST IN DOPE
CASE 'FRAME-UP,' LAWYER CLAIMS

In a verbal attack upon the methods used by inspectors for the State Board of Pharmacy, Reuben J. Liebman, attorney for Sidney Herbert, on trial for alleged violation of the state narcotic law, today declared that State Pharmacy Board Inspector Fred C. Boden and a woman employed by him for the occasion had virtually induced Herbert to purchase "dope" in order to provide grounds for his arrest.

A jury today returned a verdict of guilty against Herbert. Thursday, April 6, was set as the date for pronouncing sentence by Judge Church which may range from one to five years in the state prison.

Attorney Liebman immediately announced that at that time he would appeal the case on the ground that the prosecution had not proven actual possession of "dope" by Herbert.

Herbert is a son of the late William P. Herbert, of Alameda, former chairman of the Southern Pacific company, and at one time a member of the Alameda county district attorney's staff.

In his argument at the close of the trial today, Liebman declared that State Inspector Boden had paid a woman to go to Herbert's room with some "dope" and to urge him to purchase it. Herbert, who had been addicted to the use of narcotics in the past, was attempting to quit the habit, he asserted, but yielded at the sight of the "dope" and at the woman's insistence.

Boden and a second woman, Mrs. Mary Kailston, residing at a local hotel then "paid for" Herbert, Liebman declared, when he left his room arrested and searched him.

Herbert is alleged to have thrown the "dope" away when he saw Boden approaching him. A package containing narcotics is said to have been picked up later near the scene of Herbert's arrest.

DISTRICT NURSE
PLAN CONSIDERED
AT CENTER MEET

Formation of an organization for district nursing, which not only will render a great service to the community, but will serve a great purpose in case of a serious epidemic, was begun today at a meeting of leading men and women at the Public Health Center, Thirty-first and Grove streets.

The organization is known as the Visiting Nurses' Association, and a comprehensive plan for a city district nursing system was outlined. Alice P. Leach is president of the organization.

At today's meeting Leach and Dr. Albert Powell, director of the Public Health Center, told of the prospective benefits of the plan.

Co-operating with the Health Center will be the city government, life insurance companies, the Tuberculosis Association and the Red Cross, as well as hundreds of citizens who now are taking subscriptions and thereby financing the project.

EXPERTS ARE PRESENT.
At the meeting were Miss Anna Janne, director of the bureau of registration of nurses for the state; Miss Alice Bailey, director of visiting nurses for the Metropolitan Life company; and Miss Mary L. Cole of the nurses' division of the Red Cross, all of whom have had wide experience in district nursing in other cities.

It was explained that at present there are twenty-nine nurses in the Oakland field and that they are working under the direction of the city, the Metropolitan company, the Tuberculosis Association, and the Health Center, and that their activities overlap in many cases because of the lack of a central directing authority. At present these twenty-nine will be used and a few more will be added. Leach said, each will function in a particular district. In this way, Leach explained, there will be no duplication of effort and no waste of time.

WILL BENEFIT AID.
The plan, he said, will be as much for the benefit of the wealthy as for the very poor. If people are unable to pay they will receive the service free, but if they can pay they will be charged a small fee, probably 75 cents a visit. It was pointed out at the meeting that, since it is often great numbers of nurses and that persons who need only a little nursing service are forced to employ a full-time nurse or must go without one altogether. By this plan, Leach said, one who requires only a minimum of nursing can have the public nurse visit the house twice a day, making the total cost but $1.50 and accomplishing all that is necessary.

Many have already signed the roll as charter members of the association, agreeing to pay $2 a year for the support of the project. Among them are Mrs. Fred C. Turner, Mrs. Mark L. Requa, Dr. Edna C. Bailey, Mrs. F. A. Warner, Mrs. E. F. Tanner, Mrs. Magnus Anderson, Mrs. W. C. Morgan, Mrs. Morris Falk, Mrs. George Morrison, Mrs. R. E. Danford, Mrs. Fred Kahn, Mrs. A. S. Lavenson, Mrs. Walter Burpee, Mrs. Thomas M. Potter, Mrs. Charles L. Smith, Miss Lillian L. White, president of the Nurses' Association; Mrs. F. L. Eukhalter, Mrs. F. V. Vollmer and Mrs. P. J. Kramer.

In addition to these $2 subscriptions, many will take sustaining and life memberships, paying larger sums. Dr. Powell said the financing, it is said, is virtually assured.

Complete plans will be worked out at meetings in the near future and the plan will be in operation within a few weeks, the leaders said.

School Girl and
Lipstick Case
Is Set for Trial

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CORVING, Ark., April 4.—The "lipstick" case of Knobel, Ark., in which Miss Pearl Pugsley, 15 years old, and pretty, seeks a writ of mandamus to set aside rules of the Knobel school forbidding students to use cosmetics, wear low and peek-a-boo waists and short skirts, is set to come up in Clay county Circuit Court here April 6.

Miss Pugsley was dismissed from the elementary school at Knobel because she violated the rules, according to N. E. Hicks, principal of the school. The girl and her friends claim that she only had talcum powder on her face.

National notoriety has been given the case, and Miss Pugsley says she has received thousands of letters from persons sympathizing with her on the question. She also declared that a moving picture concern offered her $1000 a week to enter the movies. She has the offer under consideration, she added.

The rules were promulgated by the school board last August at the beginning of the school term at Knobel, and the case has been called up several times, but each time something delayed it.

It is reported that the school board would contend in court that the question is not for the courts to decide, but is solely under the jurisdiction of the board.

J. W. Moore, attorney for the girl, stated that "Miss Pugsley has had no notice from the school board that her suspension has been withdrawn, and I do not believe that the contention of the board will be upheld in court."

Reports that the board, principal and teachers of the school would resign as a result of the prominence the case has attained have been denied by the officials.

CHURCH CLUB TO MEET.
ALAMEDA, April 4.—The First Presbyterian Church Christian Endeavor Society will hold its annual business meeting in the social hall of the church this evening. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner, which will start at 6:30. The election of officers will take place and submission of reports will be made.

Applause in theaters is growing less frequent, owing, it is said, to the growing popularity of the silent cinema.

GARVIN APPEAL TO BE HEARD BY BOARD TONIGHT

The hearing of the appeal of Patrolman James Garvin against his recent layoff will start tonight before the Civil Service Board, though it is rumored that the case may be dismissed for lack of evidence.

Garvin was accused of being implicated in a liquor episode, and the trial is said to have led to him, but later evidence collected by federal officers is said to have proved otherwise, with the result that the case against Garvin is somewhat mixed.

Commissioner Frank Colbourne, however, said today that he is inclined to go through with the matter, though this is subject to later developments.

Remarkable for efficiency,
convenience and beauty

This season we are fortunate in being able to offer the women of this vicinity a gas range which is new in conception as well as execution. It is different and vastly superior. It is remarkable for efficiency as well as convenience and beauty.

One feature of this new gas range is a wonderful new oven burner, equipped with the new two-way, single-valve Universal Gas Economizer. A slight turn of the valve gives seven lines of flame—gives quick baking heat—permits even broiling and roasting. Another turn of the valve gives three lines of flame—permits baking and roasting with minimum gas consumption. All or part of burner can be used with high or low flame. You have positive control of oven heat. No guesswork.

Another feature is a new-type mercury thermometer, which also gives visible oven heat control. It positively registers oven heat with absolute accuracy. Add to this an exterior of surpassing beauty and you have the reason for the unusual popularity of this new range. Don't fail to see it before you buy.

Terms—No deposit and one-twelfth a month
—A full year to pay.

You can trade in your old stove at Jackson's in part payment on any gas range—we'll allow you a fair price. It doesn't make a difference whether your old stove burns coal or wood or gas—we'll make a fair allowance just the same.
